

Possible cancer cure in Canada

Story first broke some 5 years ago and a number of times since. Being ignored by pharmaceuticals and governments alike.

Almost 500 people a day in Canada and probably 5000 a day in the US are diagnosed with cancer. Its big business for the drug companies.

If you give a damn please forward this to as many people as you can. Only about a 100 million required to fund studies. A drop in the bucket considering the billions being handed out to the drug companies every year for treatments that half the time don't work.
