Louise Bourgeois sleep.jpg (51 KB, 540x700)

also i know nobody cares but as an artist i find it deeply unsettling how they use artworks for their sick fantasies.
P.s. related the cake they are cutting is an exact copy of "Sleep II", from Louise Bourgeois, 1967, in marble. This is a kind of flaccid fallus, and Louise Bourgeois often do works with strong incestuous/sexual backgrounds.
"According to Bourgeois' account, she was reenacting a childhood revenge fantasy of revolt against her father who gloats and brags at the dinner table and whom, in exasperation, she remembers and despises."
