

GENERAL GIFTING RECOMMENDATIONS (This is a compendium of advice from many people which we've found to be consistent)

The first time we ever 'gifted' an energy polluter with orgonite was when we arrived in Florida in November, 2000. We were lying on a beach on Plum Island and Carol told me that the energy field of the Terminator that was sitting on my chest had expanded and, gotten denser & more vibrant. The Terminator is our zapper model and our main source of livelihood. It has a small orgonite device in it, along with the electronic circuit and some other subtle energy components.

The only other time she'd seen the orgone field expand around orgonite that way was when we passed by a nuke plant in Oregon, so we drove down the length of Plum Island and, sure enough, a nuke plant was 20 miles away. A couple of days later I made a little

'buster' by filling in a 1"x2"x3" zapper box with a couple of quartz crystals embedded in the mix and we headed for the offending nuke.

As Carol watched the DOR field (very dense, active and dark right around the nuke and it extended beyond her range of vision) I tossed the thing into the bushes as close as possible to the nuke (about a quarter mile from the building, right beside the highway).

DOR is shorthand for 'deadly orgone radiation.' All nuclear reactors generate a huge DOR field, which can't be shielded by anything. One way of finding hidden nukes is to look for smog patches in areas where there are few people living.

Carol said the DOR field immediately reduced into a spherical form whose radius was apparently from the reactor to the little buster in the bushes. Driving away, she saw that the Terminator's energy field was now just the same as it would be if there was no nuke in the area and we wondered how many people would now not have to experience cancer, fatigue, depression, irritability and slow death from the life-sucking effects of that now-shrunken DOR field.

Before that, we'd similarly gifted a few occult locations, including some major vortices, but this was the beginning of our atmosphere-healing work. Four months later we'd made our first cloudbuster and were making HHGs, which are the cone-shaped orgonite devices that I described near the beginning of this paper.

Here are the gifting protocols that Carol and I use:

One towerbuster is sufficient to disable most single transmitters. I toss them in thick bushes, in creeks, ponds, rivers or even drainage ditches within a quarter mile but not closer than fifty yards to each tower. If there are no suitable hiding places, I bury them or toss them onto flat roofs or awnings. We consider an ordinary death force transmitter to have a dozen or less panels, dishes and/or rods on it and to be under a hundred feet high. One TB will take out each radio station or TV station (HAARP) transmitter.

For larger single towers, two is usually enough. It generally takes a half hour for a TB to neutralize a transmitter but if you want visual confirmations you need to disable a dozen or more transmitters in a single foray. Rather study the sky and smog levels to gauge your overall success instead of relying on instruments.

3.

If there are three or more towers close together, or if it's a HAARP array, I use a single HHG, hidden the same way as a TB. When I toss an HHG in water, I wind up a plastic grocery bag in ball and tape it securely to the point of the HHG. This ensures that it will land on the bottom, underwater, point- up, which is the most efficient way for an HHG to generate the right kind of energy field, according to what the energy sensitives in our network consistently observe.

I don't personally put extra effort into the gifts that go into water because I do so many that way and I figure that if the material doesn't decompose within a few years (it won't) then it's appropriate. After all, I used to find old cars, Japanese warplanes and unexploded artillery projectiles when I used to skindive in the warm, clear seawater around the islands of Micronesia, where I spent most of my teen years a couple of decades after WWII. The magnesium skin of the Japanese planes was still bright and shiny and I could sit in the cockpits and hold the un-rusted steel machine gun handles.

Warplanes, tanks and cannons that were on nearby land and exposed to the salty air were almost completely disintegrated from oxidation. If you want to put more effort into making your orgonite water gifts, that's certainly appropriate.

Genuine communication transmitters don't generate much DOR but all of the towers you're likely to encounter send out very dense, deadly DOR in debilitating and even potentially deadly frequencies. The DOR from the panel, rod, dish and drum transmitters which are on tall buildings and on towers surrounded by barbed wire fences is directed toward people; the DOR from HAARP transmitters is directed at whatever portion of the upper atmosphere the HAARP bad boys want to disrupt and disable that day in their efforts to turn your area into a desert.

If you simply can't get within a mile or so of a transmitter array or single massive tower, you can either put a single HHg as close as possible and string a few TBs out along the road on your way out of the area or get a few HHgs and TBs around the perimeter on other access roads, also as close as possible. We're finding that all mountain top arrays in the western US are now inaccessible to vehicles and that the access roads are closely monitored and usually closed off with a locked gate. This wasn't so as recently as two years ago. I took out the massive array on top of Mt. Spokane last fall by putting one HHg near the new, guarded gate, four miles from the summit, and a dozen TBs, spread a mile apart along the road downhill. The popular ski resort/hotel higher up the mountain had been closed on account of the new 'security' measures. Of course the only terrorists in the US work directly for either the CIA or the FBI, now collectively known as the Homeland Security Abomination.

So far, only one or two of the devices that Carol and I have distributed in this region have been found and removed. She monitors that whenever we travel around our gifted areas. This is something that most people won't have to be concerned about. If you're in LA, Chicago, NYC, London, Paris, Beijing, Tokyo, Mexico City, Johannesburg or any other Illuminati stronghold, though, you need to be concerned about that and I hope you'll follow Cbswork's recommendations to the letter if you want to get the most bang for your buck with orgonite. I hope his credentials in over-gifting from the School of Hard Knocks (the LA Basin) will help you avoid his tuition cost.

If a place feels nasty and deserving of a TB or HHg, don't hesitate to gift it, okay?

Trust your feelings. Sometimes the most heinous activity takes place in churches, mansions, schools, WalMart, day care centers, etc. Our instincts manifest as 'feelings' and hunches, and I found out years ago that by paying very close attention to and acting on my hunches I've discovered an awful lot of good, useful information. That's exactly how people succeed in business if they choose not to be corporate drones. The most psychic people in America are boozers, drug addicts & carnivores, by the way, and most of them are dead from one abuse or another before their fiftieth birthday. They're the yelling, gesticulating, freaked out mob you see on the floors of the stock and commodity exchanges every workday from 9 to 5.. All they're doing is following their instincts. See how un-glamorous and ordinary this process actually is? What's your excuse for not following your own instincts? 😊

Before you go out to bust all the heinous transmitters in your region, remember to do the ones closer to your home first and also to put at least one TB outside your house at each corner. We put those down around our house, then we put some out around the neighborhood and so on. That creates a huge protective field around your home. Once you start busting up the bad boys' new, predatory infrastructure they're going to be pretty mad, so you'll need that protective buffer to keep them off balance whenever they come around to surveil and intimidate you. The more you bust, the nicer the atmosphere around you will get, especially if you're careful to bust all the HAARP arrays. Work outwardly in a roughly circular pattern. If you're in a mountainous region, you'll need to get those mountaintop arrays, so count on getting a few blisters on your feet if the roads are closed off near the bottom, which they probably are by now. They don't usually restrict hikers from those roads. Watch for cameras when you're gifting in that case.

They don't try real hard to hide the cameras because they count on general mental programming to make them essentially invisible to Pajama People.

LOOK AROUND YOU constantly when you're out gifting, before, during and after and carry a Succor Punch in your car, at least. This stops all the electronic surveillance devices in your car and apparently also blocks you from satellite surveillance. This 'looking' is how you get confirmations that pavement artists want to see where your orgonitge goes in order for later retrieval by someone in their agency. I know some people who didn't watch for pavement artists and they'll need to retrace an awful lot of steps if they want to get it all done right. Here's a clear case where denial may cause you to waste your efforts. The nice part is that there are so many of us doing this now that the human resources of the CIA/NSA and MI6 are getting spread awfully thin. Their reptilian and other non-human associates will probably track you easily but they don't seem to want to share that intel with their human counterparts, fortunately.

The occult world order isn't nearly as monolithic as they'd have us believe.

As I said, the SP blocks all transponders and related tracking devices but if you really, really want to be invisible to the secret police, otherwise, you'll need to aggressively go after ever one of them who crosses your physical and etheric path with at least a Succor Punch. If you do that, you'll soon get a 'don't touch' reputation and not even their most gung-ho pshychic or 3D chumps will want to get anywhere near you.

Remember that they use thoroughly trained and gifted psychics (the new age movement was set up by the Illuminati as a recruiting effort for this vast new army of psychics) as the primary part of their surveillance work these days, so whenever you get a hint of an astral presence, blast his/her socks off with energy from your SP or, better yet from your Powerwand or similar device. Privacy is our birthright and you can rest assured that there are no predators or parasites more vulnerable to our etheric ministrations than these psychics are. After you get the feel of this, you can do it without any devices.

There's literally no such thing as federal property outside of Washington, DC, and the US Territories. Trespass on alleged federal land at your own discretion. I do it whenever I feel I have a good chance of getting back out before the black helicopters and/or dark-paned fedmobiles show up with those chubby, spiteful ninja-wannabees.

Carol and I have enjoyed playing hide-and-seek with these cretins on a few occasions but we don't advise you to try this at home if you're not confident that you'll win 😊 Of course every kind of fun involves a little risk. The fun of gambling for money pales in comparison to gambling for the survival of mankind in the face of genocide. The stakes are much higher for the latter, too. If you won't stop them where you live, who will right now? Of course, they're essentially defeated by now, but until we get them all into manacles they're still a potent threat.

For downtown areas, we always do our gifting in a grid pattern. There's no other practical way to neutralize the seemingly countless number of rooftop arrays and the sheer bulk of discontented human DOR generators in those office and apartment hives, let alone the usually-extensive, satanic catacombs underfoot. We pick Sunday mornings for that because there's very little traffic and it's also very easy to spot secret police peekers. Make them uncomfortable because if they're comfortable, you're vulnerable.

Now, I make them go away by blasting them. It really freaks them out so it's kind of fun.

Just put one TB every couple of blocks in every direction. If you're really lucky, you're in a newer, planned city. If you're unlucky, you're in an old city that either had no initial planning or the planner was an opium addict who was fascinated with rabbit warrens.

We did the entire city of Atlanta, which has two million people, with twenty-five gallons of resin in just a few days of actual distribution work. It's taken more than ten times that much material and effort to beautify Los Angeles, though the LA basin is ten times more populous than Atlanta. Atlanta is the main occult/satanic/Illuminati center for the Southeastern US but no place on earth can likely compare with LA for sheer heinous, predatory/parasitic oppression and human exploitation by the Illuminati. On the other hand, LA is potentially the most beautiful populous region on the continent. Our aim is to help realize the higher end of LA's potential and we feel sure that Cbswork and the rest of the selfless souls in the Los Angeles Atmosphere Reclamation Project (LAARP) showed up there for this effort precisely so that this can be coordinated and accomplished in a timely way. We follow their lead when we visit. Every time I think about that inextinguishable light in the midst of that previously-palpable darkness I shake my head in wonder and awe. This is better than any science fiction script, don't you think? If he decides to tell you his story you'll know exactly what I'm talking about 😊 15.

You can find most rural underground bases by looking for smog fields in the lower atmosphere after you've busted all the towers in the region. Nuke reactors generate scads of DOR, and that manifests as smog, which is simply toxic particulate material in colloidal suspension in an atmosphere that has a net positive ion charge. Keep your eyes peeled for gravel-lined, rectangular ponds, usually two of them separated by a gravel barrier, the whole surrounded by a high barbed wire fence. It may have a hastily-made sign indicating that it's a sewage settling pond but unless it smells like a sewer, it's a DOR sink and cooling pond for an underwater nuke. Some of them have yellow-green antifreeze in the water in winter. One TB per pond is usually enough to disable the reactor, but two is better. If they didn't vent the DOR into the atmosphere this way everyone underground would die from the poisonous energy that the cooling water absorbs.

Save your HHGs for the arrays, the regional Masonic/Mormon Temples (Mormonism is simply freemasonry turned into a quasi-religion), the particularly nasty and oppressive churches, animal testing labs, Federal Reserve Banks, your bedside table, your car, your mortal enemy's and/or mother-in-law's property and for your town's head Satanist's shrubbery. The head Satanist in my town was a MD who owns a family medicine clinic (he 'loves' children). He was a neighbor of ours and there's a LOT of orgonite around his former home 😊 We also gifted the nearby rural area where his organization slaughtered its human victims. I don't think Wesak was much fun for them last year. In fact, the German Vril society was so unhappy with these serial killers abject failure that some of them moved here to personally oversee our demise. We chased them out of their gothic mansion last August. This is how potent these funky little orgonite devices are when they're intelligently employed in a timely way.

Most of the major earthgrid nodes in N. America have been gifted, including some in far northern Canada that Brent Mosley gifted from an airplane last year. Carol, Melody and I got the one at Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming last summer. There are nine vortices in that small area and we've apparently thus, also, stopped the Illuminati's massive underground ELF effort to cause a massive eruption there with some ill-advised Tesla-tech strategy.. I think that's the last node on that big North American circle. There are countless lesser nodes and lines on that grid and of course it's part of the planetary grid. Marc Melton of www.uncleearlselixirs.com risked his life a couple of times gifting the key points in Mexico that enabled all those cloudbusters in Southern Arizona to finally bring rain back to that region. I think he's a bit braver than Carol and I because he didn't take any firearms with him. We go into the really hairy situations, like what we did at Yellowstone and Mt. Shasta, armed these days but you're not likely to ever need to do that.

I took our small, open boat across the Gulf Stream from Miami to the Bahamas a few weeks after that first nuke-busting experience and my main reason for going was to put a very large orgonite device in the center of the very disturbed Atlantean vortex east of Bimini on the Grand Bahamas Bank. That's the southern anchor point of the Bermuda Triangle. Due to an unforeseen event (my inability to think rationally within that disturbed, very stormy vortex at the time and my subsequent near-expiration) I wasn't able to deposit the device but when I was later walking along on South Andros Island in the vicinity of those ancient Atlantean blue holes I got a pretty good inspirational rush and started making cone shaped orgonite devices when I got back home. We call them

'Holy Handgrenades' in honor of MONTY PYTHON'S HOLY GRAIL. I avoid arcane terminology because I prefer to demonstrate that all of this important work is easily accessible to ordinary people like you and I. Carol, Cbswork and a few others rightly use a bit of arcanery to describe their personal orgonite creations but those are a product of their psychic gift, their skill with combining gemstones and minerals with orgonite, and their innate healing talents.

Soon after I got back from my 'Middle Aged Man and the Sea' excursion, we initiated a gifting campaign along the East Coast, from Florida to Maine and we took along our brand new (first) cloudbuster for a little field testing, too. We opened up a big blue hole in a HAARP-generated blizzard at Orgonon but the folks in Orgonon itself just refused to open the door to us 😊

We got a lot of our operational data from gifting the Jekyll Island Hotel, Savannah waterfront, the Pentagon, the Washington Monument, the World Trade Center/Federal Reserve Bank vortex, Montauk, the Salem Witch Graveyard, Seabrook Nuke Plant, Orgonon, etc., and I wrote all of that down soon after we got back home.

Those chronological reports are available in 'The Adventures of Don and Carol Croft' on www.educate-yourself.org.

In fact gifting is an essentially simple process, otherwise there wouldn't be so many people around the world doing it these days. Really, you need to develop a feel for this work. If I can do it, so can you, so don't worry! Like riding a bicycle, we learn it quickly. Be patient with yourself if you're scared to lose the training wheels, okay?

Think of it as a firewalk. Nobody bailed out at either of the firewalks I attended and there were some pretty wimpy people there, I can tell you, who were not at all as adventurous as you are for just reading this essay.

I did some of the most demonstrative gifting work without Carol's help because I wanted you to see that you don't need to have a psychic or an energy sensitive in attendance in order to do this work. That's why I did most of Atlanta, for instance, and the whole string of small cities and towns in Southern Idaho east of Boise in August, 2002, when I was testing the TB's parameters. I also essentially did all of Spokane, which is another city that had a reputation for being particularly smoggy. It's been free of smog since we finished the job in October, 2002. I also found and disabled quite a few underground bases and 'unregistered' nuke plants without the help of psychics and you can, too.

I gifted the entire basic satanic grid pattern of Washington, DC, alone and the best confirmation for me was being accosted by a large, angry crew of Men in Black right before I turned in my rental car at the Baltimore Airport on my way home. I thought they were just ugly, angry, frenetic morticians with guns bulging their jackets and pants (at the ankles) until I saw all the communication equipment and the fleet of brand new black Lincolns with dark windows all around and chrome grills. I usually walk up and greet the secret police who used to snoop around me before the days of the powerwand but these guys looked like they wanted to shoot me so I just smiled and waved. When I went out gifting with Cbswork I had to remember not to provoke the secret police very much because he's telepathic and their graphic thoughts are quite disturbing to him when I do that.

This project is as about personal empowerment as it is about healing the environment and society. If you ever get stymied, you can email my wife, Carol, at caroldestiny@turbonet.com, Theresa at redbear@snowcrest.net, or other reputable psychics who can help you locate targets and/or get some confirmation and constructive critiques about your efforts. There are more psychics in our network but most of them aren't yet offering their services. Please remember that when you ask them to help you, it's sort of like them asking you to come over and dig a trench or make breakfast for them. It's Work, in other words, so be considerate and be specific about what you want to know. If you're as specific as possible their work will be easier and you'll get news you can use. For personal advice, you need to offer to pay, of course. This network thrives because it's made up of self starters and otherwise responsible people but if you get into difficulty because you're hurting the predators/parasites in this occult world order, we all want to help you. You're responsible for getting out of your own way, but be assured that we all struggle with this handicap.

LA is the hardest target we've ever encountered. A lot of the rules that work elsewhere simply don't apply there because the Illuminati and their reptilian cohorts apparently have considered this area their exclusive domain and a human stockyard since the late 1800s. My very pleasant personal introduction to Cbswork two years ago was also my rude introduction to box surveillance by teams of CIA, FBI and NSA, including a few menacing killer-feds, almost constant overflights of helicopters and other surveillance aircraft, predatory reptilian neighbors, massive & constant electronic assaults, and a stream of unpleasant astral visitors. One of the most impressive personal miracles I've witnessed is his continued survival under this assault and he not only survives; he seems to flourish, evidently spurred on by his knowledge that he's defeating these monsters at every turn.

Our last visit was marked by only one helicopter, which we chased away, and no apparent surveillance at all. The atmosphere in and around LA is nearly pristine now, rain is abundant and the ambience of the entire region is so pleasant that Carol and I are considering living there during the winters. Three years ago, we took a wide detour around LA on our trip to the East Coast just to avoid the distinct unpleasantness of the ambient predatory aggression, smog and general nastiness that prevailed in the Los Angeles Basin until LAARP went to work with a vengeance a couple of years ago.

Cbswork has turned Pasadena, the previously most smoggy area in the LA Basin, into an atmospheric paradise single-handedly, so I hope you'll take these recommendations very seriously, as I have. He learned these techniques from both trial and error and by the application of inspired, very skilled and clear intuitive processes.

Carol and I have gone on some risky gifting expeditions with him in Hollywood, Glendale, Beverly Hills, Pasadena and San Bernardino and he's sharp as a tack, locates and hits the target every time and overgifts whenever that's called for.

An example of his intuitive skill in locating targets:

After he, Marc Melton and I thoroughly gifted the satanic core of San Bernardino in February, 2003, I headed for the East Coast and he asked me to look for a HAARP array in San B that we'd apparently missed seeing. It was exactly where he told me it would be.

I've gifted a highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, using his method of dropping one every three miles. A route from Canada to Mexico has been similarly gifted (all that remains is the stretch from north of Seattle to Canada) and many other folks throughout N. America, W. Europe and Australia are doing the same now along stretches of major highways. This creates a new energy grid because all of the orgonite/crystal devices that have ever existed are now connected with each other, as Cbswork and other energy sensitives have seen. What's more, each device that hits the ground is adopted by an entity, usually an elemental, who uses the energy of the device in concert with all the other benevolent entities to heal and strengthen the earth. You literally can't put one of these in an inappropriate spot because every square inch of the planet is appropriate for receiving an orgonite device.

One of the ways to succeed in the 'Art of War' is to take and maintain the initiative.

Mankind is winning the spiritual war against the Illuminati and their even more gruesome cohorts right now. Orgonite has apparently given mankind the edge (initiative) that it needs to win this war because this stuff is like kryptonite to the Illuminati's virtual supermen. That's our single most effective advantage over them. Every other advantage could and would likely be exploited and subverted eventually but distributing orgonite in their vicinity robs them of their power to exploit us. They're constrained, by their nature, to occupy and exploit power spots on the earth grid in order to maintain their hegemony and they simply can't stop us from showing up at or very close to those spots and taking them back (gifting them) on behalf of humanity and the planet.

The fact is that the Illuminati, consummate human parasites and predators, have been waging war on humanity for over a century on a massive scale and for millennia before that in the preparatory form of espionage, exploitation and subversion. Now they stand poised to initiate martial law, after which they plan to exterminate most of humanity so that the few people who remain will be easier for them to enslave. They've even created extensive underground facilities in order to survive the very global catastrophe's they wish to facilitate.

What we've all done around the world with the cloudbusters and other orgonite devices has apparently shifted the balance firmly in mankind's favor recently. As I see it, this is just part of an awareness-raising process that characterizes the closing, liberating phase of a vast cosmic cycle. It's our privilege to be part of the resolution of humanity's difficulties and this effort is a very comfortable and uplifting alternative to having to endure temporary global tyranny and genocide.

Stacie sat on the beach at Cape Hatteras' Outer Bank last weekend and baited hooks for a knowledgeable old black gentleman who had made his own fishing weights of fiberglass resin, BBs (small ball bearings) and a quartz crystal. His grandfather taught him to do that and he apparently catches more fish than anyone around.

"Granpappy was poor... loved to fish. And couldn't afford weights but could always get hold of old cans [cut into little bits] and pine sap and energy rocks."

The fisherman calls his sinkers 'energy stones' so if anyone asks who invented orgonite, the short answer is that nobody alive can claim credit for it 😊
