

"Once blood concentrations of alcohol reaches a critical point, even the most reasonable and otherwise collected man resort to flexing of the biceps femoris, or resolutely requesting demonstrations thereof..."

Berkhan & Stefanovski, 2012 Aug 18, Journal of No Bullshit Facts and Vodka Turnover Mastery.