

Lee Kang-in leaves for Son Heung-min? PSG MF, rapid rise as Tottenham midfield candidate

Paris Saint-Germain (PSG) midfielder Fabian Lewis is gradually becoming active at PSG and is receiving a lot of attention from Tottenham.

French media 'Foot01' reported on the 30th (Korean time), "Lewis is back on track at PSG and is raising his stock price in the transfer market."

Luis, who joined PSG ahead of the 2022/23 season, was a midfielder who was considered a top resource in Italian Serie A before moving to France. 먹튀검증사이트

He left Real Betis and joined Napoli in 2

018, and over the four seasons since his move to Naples, he has played in more than 27 league games each season and has taken charge of Napoli's midfield.

He attracted attention by playing in 166 official games for Napoli, scoring 22 goals and providing 15 assists. PSG recruited Lewis to strengthen the midfield.

However, although Luis received many opportunities to play at PSG, he did not live up to expectations.

He played in 37 official competitions last season, and in addition to his poor offensive performance with 3 goals and 3 assists, he had difficulty adapting to the midfield, and the possibility of a transfer ahead of this season was even raised.

However, Lewis is showing signs of gradually adapting to PSG this season.

Lewis, who was playing as a substitute at the beginning of the season, appeared as a starter in three of the last four league games, including against Clermont, Strasbourg, and Brest.

As the number of appearances as a starter increased, his stable performance in the midfield began to appear.

As soon as Lewis seemed to have adapted to PSG, a team appeared that wanted to recruit him, namely Tottenham, who wanted to strengthen their midfield.

'Foot01' said, "Lewis is performing well this season. Thanks to his solid performance, he is gaining popularity again in the transfer market.

This season, he has signed with Vitinha, Manuel Ugarte, Warren Zaire-Emery, and even Lee Kang-in.

He appears next. However, he has become a useful player again.

Above all, he has become a sought-after player in the transfer market," he said, adding that he is gaining popularity by showing good performance despite being pushed out of the competition for the starting role.

He continued, "According to the news, Tottenham highly values Luis.

They are expected to lose Pierre-Emile Hojbjerg, who is currently used as a joker, so they are targeting Luis.

Luis is valued at 30 million euros (about 42.8 billion won).

He can play a good role at PSG, but the possibility of him leaving is also quite high.

PSG will try to keep him in the winter transfer market, but he has definitely caught the eye of Tottenham, who were reborn from the ashes.

It was evaluated that it was.

In addition to Yves Bissouma and Pape Sar, who are currently playing as starting players, Tottenham has Rodrigo Bentancur, Hojbjerg, and Oliver Skipp as its midfield third-line resources.

Hojbjerg is likely to be transferred due to lack of playing time. The possibility of a transfer has already been raised in the summer transfer market.

It is known that prestigious clubs such as Juventus and Bayern Munich are sending love calls.

If he leaves, there are no clear midfield resources other than Bentancur, so they can rush to recruit Luis in case of an injury at the end of the season.

Attention is being paid to whether Lewis, who has raised his stock by playing well despite limited playing opportunities, can leave PSG in this winter's transfer market and contribute to Tottenham's upward trend along with Son Heung-min.
