Personal statements and statements of purpose are ways for graduate admissions committees (usually made up of program faculty and current graduate students) to learn more about you as an applicant. It is your chance to “sell” your abilities and to tell your story. A statement of purpose example provides the reader with a clear and concise framework of how to effectively communicate their intentions, goals, and motivations for pursuing a particular course, program, or position. Below is a suggested outline, formatted to simplify the various parts of the statement of purpose. It is meant to be the meat of your statement while allowing you to fill in the rest with supporting sentences.

1. Opening paragraph – good, solid paragraph outlining your overall interest in the graduate program at the university.

2. This application essay is also known as a Statement of Purpose letter. There are several statement of purpose examples available if you need a reference. In the following sample Statement of Purpose, donated by an Academic Writing Center GA, you can get a sense of the structure and flow of a statement of purpose, as discussed in the corresponding “Crafting a Statement of Purpose Workshop.”. Analyze the questions or guidance statements for the essay completely and answer all parts. For example: “What are the strengths and weaknesses in setting and achieving goals and working through people?”.
