

Tom Cruise's 'Iron Man' Leaked Look Trolled, 'Doctor Strange In The Multiverse Of Madness'

For more Hollywood News

Tom Cruise can be seen standing against a greenscreen while shooting a scene with the crew

Robert Downey Jr's Iron Man was without a doubt one of the most cherished characters of the Marvel Cinematic Universe. As the superhuman saw a terrible yet chivalrous end in Avengers: Endgame, fans have been contemplating whether they will get to see one more form of the Iron Man later on. Late bits of gossip propose that Tom Cruise will be the one to wear the job in Doctor Strange in the Multiverse of Madness and appears as though we presently have some popular BTS pictures to nearly affirm something very similar. Keep reading for more hollywood news.

For the unversed, the impending portion of Doctor Strange is good to go to hit the auditoriums in May 2022. As the name recommends, the film is relied upon to rotate around the idea of the multiverse, clearing way for a considerable length of time and appearance exhibitions. The movie has been coordinated by Sam Raimi and elements entertainers like Benedict Cumberbatch and Xochitl Gomez in key jobs.

In a lot of pictures doing the rounds on Twitter, Tom Cruise should be visible remaining against a greenscreen while shooting a scene with the group. In one of the photos, he is seen wearing an extraordinary suit with a lot of stones appended around the belt and thighs. In the following photo, he is seen looking to one side while the image has been taken from the back point. His facial hair trim looks basically the same as that of Tony Stark's and a piece of green material can likewise be seen folded over his right arm.

These supposed BTS pictures of Tom Cruise are leaving fans isolated as some accept that the photos are genuine while others are persuaded that they are all photoshopped. Since Marvel fans, previously, were made to accept that spilled pictures of Tobey Maguire and Andrew Garfield were stunning, a portion of the being a fan individuals are struggling with these new BTS clicks. Stay tuned to Koimoi.