

Canada Advices Citizens To Avoid Travel To Areas In India Bordering Pakistan

Ottawa  Canada [Travel ]: In what seems to be a bizarre tour advisory, Canada has recommended its citizens to keep away from all journeys to areas in the states of Gujarat, Punjab, and Rajasthan, which percentage a border with Pakistan because of the “presence of landmines” and “unpredictable security scenario.”

“Avoid all tours to areas within 10 km of the border with Pakistan in the following states because of the unpredictable security scenario and presence of landmines and unexploded ordnance: Gujarat, Punjab Rajasthan,” the advisory states.

The travel advisory placed out with the aid of the Canadian government on its website, which was remaining updated on September 27, also asks its residents to workout an excessive diploma of caution in India due to the “danger of terrorist assaults all throughout the country.”

This advisory excludes traveling to or in the Union Territory of Ladakh.

It also urges human beings to keep away from non-vital journeys to Assam and Manipur “due to the risk of terrorism and insurgency.”

Incidentally, on September 23, India issued an advisory for Indian nationals and students in Canada to remain vigilant amid increasing incidents of crimes and anti-India sports in the united states. Read More...
