

Everything you need to know about cleanrooms

A cleanroom is a part or series of parts where the concentration of particle is controlled in order to minimize the introduction, generation, retention of particles. Parameters such as temperature, humidity and relative pressure are also kept at a precise level. Everything you need to know about cleanrooms