

Difference Between Antigen and Antibody

Antigens, also known as immunogens, are toxins or compounds in our blood that cause our body to resist them for being foreign substances while Antibodies is Y-shaped proteins produced by B lymphocytes or B cells in our immune system. Read More