

Best Suicide Awareness in Australia

We all have good days and bad days. Then there are the days when something isn't quite right, you have something on your mind, or things feel too much to handle. No matter the situation, having someone to talk to can significantly impact and tell you about suicide awareness.