

punk Crocs

If you're looking for a pair of durable Crocs shoes for hiking, then you've come to the right place. While these shoes were originally made for boating, Crocs have since been upgraded for people of all ages and needs. While you should avoid using Crocs for serious hiking, they're still a great choice for day-to-day activities around the house.

Although most punk Crocs are breathable and have plenty of holes, you'll still have to be careful if you're going to hike through water. This is because the material isn't waterproof and may absorb water from the ground. This makes it easy for water to get in, and it can be uncomfortable.