

Cloud Native application development services | Sasken

Sasken offers Cloud Native application development services to their client. A Cloud-native application is a program that is designed for a cloud computing architecture, These applications are run and hosted in the cloud and are designed to capitalize on the inherent characteristics of a cloud computing software delivery model. For more information do visit us on : <https://www.sasken.com/digital/platform-development-sustenance>