

IVF Plan: Planning and stages of IVF – Indira IVF

The collection of oocytes (follicular puncture) is carried out under general anesthesia and lasts about twenty minutes: the specialist punctures the follicles using a needle through the walls of the vagina and collects the oocytes by aspiration of follicular fluid, the everything under ultrasound control.

The intervention is followed by a few hours of rest in our day hospital. Are you planning for IVF then this is the right time.

