

Doctor Strange In The Multiverse Of Madness: After Tom Cruise's Iron Man, Deadpool

For more Latest Hollywood News

Well, as Marvel being Marvel, they are being quite tight-lipped about these fans' speculations on the upcoming movie

In the wake of conveying a super hit through Tom Holland's Spider-Man: No Way Home, Marvel Cinematic Universe is preparing for the arrival of its next blockbuster with Benedict Cumberbatch starrer, Doctor Strange In The Multiverse Of Madness. Keep reading for more latest hollywood news.

For the unversed, the forthcoming Marvel film is the spin-off of the 2016 delivery Doctor Strange. Aside from the plot of multiverse, the most thrilling piece of the impending superhuman film is that the fans would get to see new characters. As of late, the extremely observant fans had gotten a brief look at Tom Cruise's Iron Man in the as of late delivered trailer. Indeed, today the fans are currently certain that they have recognized another well known Superhero! Peruse on to know the entire scoop.

Thus, the new banner for Doctor Strange in the Multiverse of Madness has acquired numerous hidden treats, and fans can't resist the urge to go insane over detecting those Easter eggs. With the disclosure of Captain Carter's safeguard on the banner, we currently accept that Ryan Reynolds's Deadpool has additionally shown up on the banner. The Marvel buffs have now taken it to their Twitter handles, to share what they found on the impending film's most recent banner which highlights Benedict Cumberbatch's Doctor Strange doing magic as the glass of the Sanctum Sanctorum Breaks behind the scenes.

While the broke glass in the banner shows clear looks at characters like Benedict Wong, Rachel McAdams, Elizabeth Olsen, Chiwetel Ejiofor, and Xochitl Gomez, there are weak looks at their variations and other potential characters also. The fans have now amplified a picture of the banner, which shows a weak impression of a person in a red veil with dark circles around the eyes and white cuts. There is just one person in the Marvel and Fox universe who has this ensemble and that is Ryan Reynolds's Deadpool.

Indeed, as Marvel being Marvel, they are as a rule very quiet with regards to these fans' theories on the forthcoming film. Notwithstanding, the producer of Deadpool, Rob Liefield as of late took it to his Twitter record to share an obscure reaction over the hypothesis. It's is to be noticed that the producer didn't deny nor settled on anything.

Indeed, it seems as though Marvel has kept some energizing surprise in the background for the fans!

In the interim, Marvel's Doctor Strange In The Multiverse Of Madness is good to go to deliver on the sixth of May 2022. Stay tuned to Koimoi.