Top Worktops Near Me- Quartz

Bianco Carrara Quartz:

Bianco Carrara Quartz, also called Carrara Bianco, is among the best bestsellers that have positively maintained its recognition and marketability amongst the buyers. It owes a huge part of its popularity to the Carrara marble. Carrara Marble is a reputed Italian marble that is globally recognized by buyers of the interior design and architecture industry for its alluring beauty.

Featuring the same white base topped by smokey veins in grey and black, Bianco Carrara Quartz mimics the Carrara marble almost precisely. This invention of Bianco Carrara Quartz gave the homeowners the opportunity to invite the same luxury into their homes but with more desirable qualities which are mentioned below:

- Luxurious look
- Non-porous nature
- Hygienic Option
- Stain-resistance
- Low-maintenance

The only point marble outperforms carrara quartz is the ability to withstand heat. So for your quartz countertops, we recommend using a worktop mat and heat coasters to keep your top worktops in polished and gleaming conditions.

Hoxton Quartz:

Hoxton quartz is quartz, grey in color, and gives you a perfect square edged worktops for kitchens. Unlike a plain grey quartz worktop, Hoxton Quartz features cloudy white patterns above the dull grey surface. The silver-grey touch and pattern featured in it gives Hoxton Quartz one of the most natural-looking finish thus, making it unique and suitable to fit a modern kitchen look or any modern living scheme

Uses: quartz kitchen worktops, flooring, quartz bathroom vanity tops, all shower areas, staircases, wall cladding, and wide worktop for kitchen island

What is Better, a 30mm or 20mm Quartz Kitchen Countertops?

Every thickness is manufactured to suit a certain condition. 30mm quartz worktop best suits kitchen worktops, bathroom worktops, residential flooring, and commercial flooring. A 30 mm quartz worktop is more strong and more durable as compared to a 20 mm quartz worktop, so it is a popular choice for sinks, hobs, floors, and top-of-worktops that often deal with heavy pressures. 20mm quartz worktops are popular choices for kitchen islands. Backsplashes, worktop upstands, and window sills, (and in some cases main kitchen worktops) are manufactured with 20 mm thick quartz slabs. They give a sleek and modern finish to the designs. Get your modern kitchen complete with a grey sparkle quartz worktop by giving a polished finish to your 20 mm Hoxton quartz. Use this quartz worktop price calculator UK to estimate your budget.

Imperial Gold Quartz

Imperial Gold Quartz, as the name describes, features hues of gold in quartz slabs. The base is a dark sooty black and gold background which has grained dots of black and occasional luminescent gold touch.

Imperial Gold is one of the popular worktop options for people looking for a 30mm quartz worktop for their busy kitchens. Usually larger families and those with smaller kids go for it as the top of worktops made by this can easily mask stains and scratches with its dense grains. It can suit several applications besides kitchen worktops, like worktop upstands, window sills, floors, vanity tops, wall cladding with quartz tiles, backsplash, etc.

Alaska Granite

Alaska Granite is a natural stone popularly mined in Brazil. It has an off-white or creamy base which is mixed with irregular patches of brown and black. The overall appearance looks like a whipped cream of chocolate and vanilla topped over a frappe. Most of our Alaska Granite orders are received for kitchen countertops and bathroom worktop projects of different worktop sizes. Worktop thickness of 30 mm is the greater one in demand, and 40mm worktops for kitchens give you more durability, though. They also look great as wall facades, backsplashes, and floor coverings. The top of worktops manufactured with Alaska Granite can mask stains and scratches up to some degrees because of its design. Use a worktop sealant on a regular basis to keep your granite countertops gleaming and hygienic.

Olimpo

Olimpo is again a white base natural granite that is popular in demand amongst homeowners looking for something subtle yet elegant.

The white background features a heavily speckled pattern with black dots and patches. The white of the base can range from moderately clean white to yellow, gold-tone.

This falls in our low to medium-cost granite category. Won't say cheap granite worktop, but it surely is an affordable granite, considering the value it adds to your homes. It is one of the bestselling stones for top worktops. Besides that, people looking for staircases and floor renovations also place demand for this gorgeous granite.
