

The #BRRRR model of investing in real estate is a great way to create a portfolio of investments

Buying below market value brings this whole concept full circle because if you buy below market value you have instant equity in the property.

