

3 Things to Know Before Seeing an IVF Specialist Doctor

If you have been trying to have a baby sometimes with no success. Then you should contact a fertility doctor. Here are 5 things you need to know before going to an IVF specialist.

1. You will Need Fertility Testing

At your first meeting with IVF Specialist Doctor, they'll check your medical history and then design a fertility test for you and your partner.

2. The Basics of Fertility Treatment

Finally, after the testing is complete and you have a diagnosis -- a reason you're having trouble conceiving -- Infertility Specialist Doctor can create a treatment plan.

Even if the results of your tests have been inconclusive, and there's no clear reason why you're not getting pregnant -- up to a third of couples never know why they can't conceive -- treatment can still be used.

3. Challenges of Fertility Treatment

Along with drug side effects, people undergoing fertility treatment face many challenges: the vigilance required for drug treatment, frequent trips to the doctor's office or clinic for blood tests and ultrasounds, and the expense and cost of treatment.

Best IVF Specialist Doctor in Indore

Dr. Heena Agrawal was trained in the complete ambit of reproductive medicine such as polycystic ovaries, endometriosis, obesity, recurrent IVF failures, and unexplained infertility cases as well as a wide range of Fertility Doctors in Indore