

4 Australian fashion people on the lingerie they swear by

And there seem to be a few crowd favourites.

Finding the right underwear and bra duo for everyday wear can be a tumultuous journey. Like good taste in many things, it comes with age. It's usually a process of trial and error and potentially involves a few bouts of thrush along the long way.

I recently donned a hyper-sexy matching set of lingerie to road test how it would make me feel (you can read more about that here), and I sort of loved it. But mostly, comfort is key. I'm also a devoted wearer of organic, antibacterial and moisture-wicking undies (like the Vee Underwear ones) to avoid the aforementioned thrush.

Keep up to date with ethical designers over at our Fashion section.

When it comes to cut, I'm a g-string girl every day of the calendar year, but that shift probably only happened about two years ago. Now, the thought of a bikini cut or boyleg seems sinister. I just vibe the fit, the feel and the freedom (sans VPL) of a g-banger, as do some of the fashion people I've spoken to below.
