

What is 2.5 mm Armoured Cable Used for?

2.5 mm armoured cable, also known as RG214 coaxial cable, is a type of high-frequency transmission line commonly used in various applications where reliable and secure signal transmission is required. This cable is designed to provide protection against electromagnetic interference (EMI) and mechanical damage, making it suitable for outdoor and harsh environments.

<https://zenergycableau.wordpress.com/2024/01/19/what-is-2-5-mm-armoured-cable-used-for/>