In Christianity, the white pigeon represents the Holy Spirit. According to the Bible, when Jesus was baptized, the Holy Spirit descended upon him like a dove (Matthew 3:16; Mark 1:10; Luke 3:22; John 1:32). This association has led to the use of white pigeons in Christian art and literature as a symbol of the Holy Spirit. In Islam, the white pigeon is believed to have flown to Mecca to deliver a message to Prophet Muhammad. This event is said to have marked the beginning of Islam, and the white pigeon is therefore considered a sacred bird. In Hinduism, the white pigeon is believed to represent the soul and is associated with the god Krishna. According to Hindu mythology, when Krishna was a child, he used to play with white pigeons. In Native American culture, the white pigeon is viewed as a messenger between the spirit world and the physical world. It is believed that if you see a white pigeon, it means that someone is sending you a message from the ancestors or spirits. White pigeons are beautiful birds that can be kept as pets. They are easy to care for and make great companions. They have a long lifespan, up to 15 years in captivity.
