William Morris' expansive 19th century tapestry includes the exact scene depicted in our Hare and Pheasant Wall Tapestry. The winsome scene shows a colorfully feathered bird swooping at the fluffy cotton tails of a pair of hares hopping through the underbrush. The tapestry boasts hues of nature. This beautiful woven tapestry brightens any wall with its lovely scene rendered in incredible hues. It works well with other patterns, colors, and fabrics that compliment the tapestry's design. Morris founded the British arts and crafts movement at the end of the 1800s. Backed with lining and tunnel for easy hanging. Woven in Belgium.
