Healthcare Outsourcing can handle some of the more daunting tasks associated with EMRs:

- Digitization of printed paper documents
- Digitization of handwritten notes
- Digitization of transcriptions
- Digitization of patient intake forms
- Digitization of X-rays and MRIs

Healthcare BPO Services offer the perfect fit to move, or maintain, your office's record keeping in the digital universe. Not only does it make records easier to access, it makes storage easier. Digitization is infinitely easier to search through. And it eliminates the problem of reading doctor's famously unreadable handwriting. When you Outsource Healthcare Solutions your office gets the whole package, all at once:

- Easy Accessibility: Document digitization enables an organization to access the data in digital form from anywhere, which breaks the barriers of location, time and simultaneous access.
- Cost Reduction: Digitization of documents enables a provider to get rid of physical documents which consume resources such as office space, security personnel, and a decay-free environment.
- Data Security: As the documents are digitized, access to digital data is easy to define. This enhances data security and guards against data leaks.
- Increased Productivity: Data can be accessed by multiple departments within the practice or provider at the same time.
- Data Storage and Recovery: Digitized data is easy to store at multiple locations, giving extra protection against data corruption or loss. Physical documents are more likely to be damaged, whereas digitized data is more secure and easy to replicate.
- Environmentally Friendly: With digitized data there's no need to print it for distribution, also handling of digitized data is easy. This will ultimately result in saving natural resources, making your enterprise 'greener'.
- Competitive Advantage: When you access the digitized data, it becomes easy to find various records instantly and run analytical diagnosis which can yield important insights.
