

2024 Major League Milwaukee Brewers at Petco Park in San Diego, California, on the 24th

After hitting double-digit home runs for three consecutive years the previous day, Kim Ha-sung continued his three-game hitting streak, raising his batting average to 0.220 (60 hits in 268 times at bat) for the season.

Kim Ha-sung stepped down with a fly ball to right field in the first at-bat of the third inning when his team was losing 0-5, but he hit a hit in the second at-bat. 토토사이트 순위

Kim Ha-sung, who entered the batter's box with two outs and no runners in the fifth inning, hit a slider in the middle of the second pitch against Milwaukee starter Tobias Myers.

Kim Ha-sung, who succeeded in getting on base, advanced to second base on Brett Sullivan's bunt infield hit and then homered on Luis Arraez's timely hit.

After that, Kim Ha-sung stepped down with a fly ball to center field in the seventh inning and a grounder to shortstop in the ninth inning.

San Diego lost to Milwaukee 2-6 as starting pitcher Michael King collapsed by allowing nine hits, one walk and five runs in six innings. After failing to win five consecutive games, San Diego ranked second in the NL West with 41 wins and 41 losses.

Milwaukee ended its three-game losing streak and maintained its No. 1 position in the National League Central with 45 wins and 33 losses.
