

Help! The Government Just Put A Tax Lien On Me! What I Do Next?

We settle for as close to war as we can, between two great fighters. One could be the British junior welterweight champion undefeated as part division. The other is a Filipino prize fighter considered, as one boxing journalist put it, an all-time great fighter. He considers the Brit amazing fighter, making a distinction between 2 classifications. The Pinoy is a societal icon - adulation is appropriate. The Brit is a star athlete - massive support follows his trail. We settle for battle in the squared ring. Opposite worlds collide, and also the aftermath shakes over the gravitational and geo-economic-political pull of fight.
