

3 Things to Expect in an Appellate Court

An appeal is a request to the higher court, asking them to review the lower court's decision. The request is made by either party when they are not happy with the earlier decision. While the appellate court will review the trial record, it does not consider new facts or evidence.