The film is the biggest disaster amongst Hindi releases of the last couple of years.

On its delivery, Bombay Velvet had taken an opening of 5.20 crores and afterward shut at a few days of 16.10 crores. Post that it crashed on Monday with 2.10 crores coming in and afterward Tuesday fell significantly further to 1.45 crores. Presently Radhe Shyam (Hindi) is doing even poor. It began at 4.50 crores*, had its first few days of 14.50 crores*, slid huge on Monday with 1.50 crores* coming in, and presently Tuesday is even lower at 1.25 crores*. The direction is basically comparative however the outright numbers are considerably lesser, which shows how the movie has been dismissed amazingly. Right now, the film remains at 17.25 crores* and the principal week will close around the 20 crores mark. This will be considerably lesser than the main seven day stretch of Bombay Velvet which remained at 22.27 crores. While that film's lifetime was 23.67 crores, Radhe Shyam (Hindi) will currently close at much lesser.

Radhe Shyam is the greatest fiasco among Hindi arrivals of the most recent few years, however it isn't completely is business as usual since the business had excessive assumptions from it. Had it been treated as simply one more south delivery that shows up in a named way (which it isn't really, however at that point the treatment might have been that way), then, at that point, assumptions would have been taken care of and the numbers could never have looked as terrible as they do presently.
