Tips While Learning Software testing course online:

1. After getting enough training from our testing courses online session do this homework to master yourself in software testing;
2. Give yourself the challenge to break it somehow and find at least 5 bugs over the course of a week, a month, or however, you feel confident with it.
3. Write a detailed report on each bug or error you find. For example; steps to reproduce the bug, why do you think it is a bug, how you cleared it, how it can have an impact on large users, etc.

4. Testing, Testing, and Testing. Somehow, It seems to be a tough task, but there is not a better way either to learn to test than "testing and documenting"
5. Once you are done with this exercise, assess yourself, whether you enjoyed doing this.
6. Documenting your bug will always help you in future works. So, don't miss out.
