

New York City Became Deadlier for Pedestrians in 2024

In 2024, New York City saw an increase in pedestrian fatalities, highlighting growing safety concerns. With more accidents occurring, experts emphasize the need for better infrastructure and legal support for victims, urging the public to stay vigilant on the roads.

