Tiling is a certain technique to achieve fantastic, long-lasting effects if you want your property to have an instant wow factor. The hallway, for example, is your home's entryway, and while it's sometimes disregarded, it's a vital room to get properly. The brown/grey tones, which are made of highly durable porcelain, are both warm and inviting, and will blend well with the rest of your home. It's also a winner because it doesn't require the upkeep and cost of actual stone. Tiles, like everything else in your home, require regular upkeep to keep them looking great for years to come. Cleaning and maintaining ceramic and porcelain surfaces, whether they are ceramic or porcelain, requires very little work.

The living room is the heart of the house, and it deserves to be the focal point. Allow your floor to do the talking with neutral, pared-back accessories and let the tiles do the talking. Think outside the box and create a feature in your room with tiles. Choosing to tile an alcove, for example, allows you to personalise your living area.
