What is live streams?

Lives are live streams that can be done through content platforms such as YouTube , specializing in videos, and Twitch , with a greater focus on streaming. You can connect with people all over the world from wherever you are, and all you need is an internet connection. The lives can have different themes, which depends on the content line of the creator in question. Recently, we have seen the phenomenon of lives take over world in the period of broader social restrictions during the pandemic. The lives of music artists were very successful, but they opened an important market for other content creators.
