

Goopi Gadha

For generations, Bengal has been widely recognized for the art of wooden doll making and even to this day, most craftsmen are involved in this craft as their primary source of livelihood. Artist Uday Deb has exquisitely designed and handcrafted a collection of wooden dolls that resemble characters from legendary filmmaker Satyajit Ray's cult classic 'Goopi Gyne Bagha Byne', a musical fantasy-cum-adventure film which has been watched by generations of Bengali kids. A nationally reputed cartoon artist, Uday Deb is a creative man with a strong passion for traditional art especially hand-crafted wooden dolls. Each of the series he creates has their own unique interpretation of the characters that have inspired him.
