

What Are The Various Types Of The Engraved Plaques?

Do you appreciate someone's achievement by awarding the person with an eternal gift? Now you might pause and think what is that actually? Well-engraved plaques are the best way to do so. The words were written especially not only touch the heart and soul of the person but also strongly voice the significance and role of the person as well. Therefore, let's see the different types of engraved plaques are:

Laminated colored plaque:

The wooden plaques have been quite popular because you will see that the coating and laminated finish add a special touch to the plaque. Most catching part is that you will get this in a fascinating range of colors as well. You should note that mostly the solid woods used are recycled ones and that leaves an eco-friendly influence.

Hardwood plaques:

No matter whatever plaques you choose for the hardwood ones actually look so elegant and enduring. If you consider the cost of crafting the plaque then it is important to note that it is reasonably priced. Most importantly, the clubbing of solid wood with the granite touch makes it exclusive. The best is that this type of plaques is chosen to reward someone academically.

Glass type plaque:

It is singular in look and you will get this in different types of shapes, sizes, and colors. Two important methods like the sandblasting and engraving are used for crafting the glass plaques. In order to add strength to the plaque, the glass is used beneath the granite. In addition to that, you can add solid as the stand support to the glass plaques.

Stylish frame plaque:

Among all different types of plaques, the framed plaque has a distinct appearance. This type of plaque is chosen as a symbol of the prestigious award. These are used in the corporate world to award an employee for his or her rigorous service in the company for a span of ten to twenty years.

Laminated wooden plaque:

If you want to choose something with minimalistic touch but with elegance, then the laminated wooden plaque is the right choice. The best is that it is fabricated from fine quality pure wood. Moreover, this type of plaque is chosen as an award during a private event.

Granite plaque:

If you consider the most pricey and classic, award then granite plaques are the selected ones. The best is that it is made in combination with metal, granite and wood. The well-known methods like engraving as well as sandblasting are used to craft the same. The best part is that you will get this in different types of exclusive shades that give a beautiful touch to the plaque. Once you scout through the online shops, you will see that that this is available in two different forms like wall-mounted and the standing type.

Diamond styled plaque:

The plaque in the shape of the diamond with engraved words in the middle gives so much elegance to the award. The noteworthy is the laminated finish of rosewood that makes it more commendable.

These are some of the different types of engraved plaques.

Visit Trophykart; leading trophy manufacturers in India for more information about corporate gifts, plaques, custom mugs, medals, custom trophies for sports, sales, innovation, yoga, financial & medals, badges, coasters.