

Update Facebook Attribution Window And It's Explanation

You can think of the attribution window as the number of days between when a person sees or clicked your ad and then took action on your website. The ad-hoc setting of the Facebook attribution window can show actions varying from the first day of ad viewing and within 28 days following the click on your ad. Our eLuminous Technology is best to provide digital marketing services Which help on this.