

What Are The Factors Responsible For Single Car Accidents?

What Are The Factors Responsible For Single Car Accidents?

They Understand that most vehicle crashes are caused by driver error. However, just because a crash is called a “single car accident” does not mean that it is always the driver’s fault. There are many factors outside of a driver’s control that can cause single-car collisions or make them worse. This includes the following factors:

Bad road conditions

Poorly drained roadways

Defective car parts or products

Poorly constructed or maintained roads

Poorly placed signs

Dangerous construction zones

Ice patches

If you or somebody you love has been injured in a single-car collision, you may need to speak to an attorney about your case. At Randall, Page & Bruch, P.C., their Virginia car accident lawyers have the resources necessary to conduct a complete investigation into your claim to determine liability.

RPB

They Understand that most vehicle crashes are caused by driver error. However, just because a crash is called a “single car accident” does not mean that it is always the driver’s fault. There are many factors outside of a driver’s control that can cause single-car collisions or make them worse. This includes the following factors:

- Bad road conditions
- Poorly drained roadways
- Defective car parts or products
- Poorly constructed or maintained roads

If you or somebody you love has been injured in a single-car collision, you may need to speak to an attorney about your case. At Randall, Page & Bruch, P.C., their experienced Virginia car accident lawyers have the resources necessary to conduct a complete investigation into your claim to determine liability.