Zerubbabel led the Jews who returned from captivity in Babylon and helped rebuild the Second Temple in Jerusalem. He served as the governor of Yehud Medinata province in the Persian satrapy of Eber-Nari. Emuna is listed as one of Zerubbabel's children, along with Meshullam, Hananiah, Shelomith, and Hashubah. While her name only appears once in the biblical text, Emuna came to represent faithfulness, dedication to religious tradition, and trust in God.
