Weird deep-sea creatures

Some of them are explained away as dolphins' whales or other known animals but some of them are as mysterious as they are weird-looking. Let's get into the top 10 unexplained sea creatures:

now we have the New Zealand monster in 2013 a woman called Elizabeth and uploaded a video to YouTube of this creature washed up on Poochyena Beach New Zealand.

Now, most of its 30 foot or nine-meter-long body was buried in the sand leaving only. His flippers and a mouth filled with sharp teeth visible.

Elizabeth said it had been washed up during a recent storm and appeared to have been attacked by something else in the water before.

Tests were even done people were speculating about an even bigger creature out there a killer of sea monsters.

9. Weirdest Deep Sea Creatures " Raystown ray "

now we have the Raystown ray.

This one comes from Pennsylvania's raised hound Lake now.

For many years locals there reported seeing a large shadowy figure just below their boats sending them rocking in the turbulence.

Then a local fisherman finally snapped these pictures of it. it quickly spread around the world. Until the managing director of the lake admitted they had known about the creature for quite a while.

personally described it as a private creature that often came to the surface in April, that it was a vegetarian and that humans were most likely safe around it.

But knowing all this didn't satisfy adventurers who still visit Ray's town. Every April hoping for a glance moving on to.
