

Landlord's Little Girl 94 Gist:

Chay comes in and the art teacher starts comparing her height from when she was before and how she's getting so taller now. She brushes that off saying she didn't do much to change. Narration on how she just grew up so fast from a daring little middle school girl to a woman. She starts setting up right next to Pyo and pyo narrates how she always sat next to him every time. She starts admiring Pyo and thinking how he got so handsome. Pyo notices her stare and she blushes. He starts asking if she had something to say but she just gets flustered and saying how he's been staying here really late and shouldn't he head home after a long day. Pyo gives her a warm smile asking if she's worried about him and thanks her but he's fine. She starts blushing really hard with her heart beating fast and starts stuttering to take care of himself while not be able to look at him. Pyo grins thinking she's cute.

At home, a sad mom waits for Pyo and then calls him when he gets out of his room all ready, asking if he's gonna sleep with Hyuna again tonight and that he needs to rest here at home for the SAT tomorrow. Pyo looks down at his mom saying that he is gonna go sleep over again as ever since he's been sleeping over with her he hasn't had that nightmare again (Seeing mom with old man). Mom looks down ashamed as he leaves out the door. Outside, Pyo looks troubled as well but continues down to Hyuna's place, narrating how he's always been doing this every night. Going over to her place and staying the night with his mom always looking off at him as if looking at a sinful bond. Pyo asks Hyuna about staying over again tonight and she looks over noticing mom across the balcony. Mom nods at her and she nods back. Hyuna invites him inside saying it's fine. Mom walks back in as well as Pyo stares off at her troubled and narrating how it was a way of getting back at him mom as well.

Inside, Hyuna tosses him a gift or something as a pick me up for trying hard tomorrow on his SAT and he thanks her happily. Later on, he's sleeping in her chest and narrating how it's always been like this every night with nothing changing. Suddenly Pyo mumurs about how it's almost time to do it with her. She gets up startled asking if he's still awake and he continues saying how it's less than 2 months left until he can do it with her and she tells him to stop talking like that and to go to sleep. He keeps pesturing about the promise and she tells him how he shouldn't be thinking of something like that with a woman who's much older than him who is like his auntie. He backfires asking how didn't she try to do it with him the last time. Flashback of when Pyo tried to save her from the gangbang and how she tried to offer herself to him.

Back to present time and he asks if she doesn't remember that time and how he won't do it now but until he's 20. She turns the other way acting tsundere and he mentions how he always slept in her arms when he was crying before and she took care of him so he likes her. She starts saying that he shouldn't like someone like her and to go to sleep already. He smiles and starts holding her from behind saying how she always did it with men she didn't feel for and didn't like. How he wants to be the first real man she can truly feel happy with. She kept and framed a drawing of her from him before and starts tearing up, holding his hand and saying to just get some rest for the tests tomorrow.

The next morning, Pyo walks to school and runs into old man at the gate who asks if he's heading out to school and mentions the tests and he should be up earlier and trying hard on it but Pyo just bumps him over ignoring him. Old man gets pissed and stuttering, asking what the hell is he doing. Pyo just tells him how doesn't have time to play with him and how he needs to go take a test and not get stupid listening to him, old man gets pissed asking about that. The new Pyo just grins.

To Be Continued