

Giants players have 'tremendous respect' for ex-coach Joe Judge

The New York Giants face the New England Patriots on Sunday afternoon at MetLife Stadium and on the opposing sideline will be their former head coach, Joe Judge.

The New York Giants face the New England Patriots on Sunday afternoon at MetLife Stadium and on the opposing sideline will be their former head coach, Joe Judge.

Judge was fired after compiling a 4-13 record during the 2021 regular season, which featured a wild 11-minute rant following a Week 17 loss to the Chicago Bears and controversial back-to-back quarterback sneaks in a Week 18 loss to the Washington Commanders.

While fans were happy to see Judge get shown the door, his players weren't nearly as enthusiastic. Despite the team's struggles and Judge's unorthodox coaching style, he had earned the respect of the men he commanded. Read More
