The following is an excerpt from a vastly larger article, but it demonstrates that there is no question the election was stolen

It was fraud by computer.

Since Dominion and Smartmatic have control of the voting machines, the software, and the reporting of the results, it should be up to the owners and officials of those two entities to explain how it was done. But it was done, as will be shown.

Unraveling this mystery begins with The New York Times. After polls closed on Election Day, The Times begin to report the results hour after hour. The coding for that data is still online, and we have downloaded it in case it is taken down.

The data from The Times shows the time, expressed as UTC, or Universal time, which is Greenwich mean time in England.

https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1T_wB66S79FkEDsvUWwRWXSg4Ja-JxOE4WDNHGmUbvvk/edit?fbclid=IwAR1IjIwtGIPYqOc8xqrd8SbOSjHYNTK_H3kgLck98UKmvQB6gliaz7zKE2U#gid=0

It also shows the totals for Trump and Biden, Trump's lead, and then new votes for Trump and Biden as each change in the results was uploaded. Then it shows something very significant: The increase or decease in the lead for Trump after the new dump of votes occurred. Therein lies this story.

Late on Wednesday, Nov. 4, at precisely 16:35 UTC, The New York Times reported President Trump was leading in Georgia by 103,997 votes. However, a new group of votes was being dumped. That one dump reduced Trump's lead by 18,563 votes. Remember than number.

Three hours later, another dump occurred. This one reduced Trump's lead by 4,656 votes. Remember that number. Thirty minutes later, another dump reduced Trump's lead by 4,685 votes. An hour and a half later, another dump reduced Trump's lead by 9,323 votes. An hour and a half later, another dump reduced Trump's lead by 9,509 votes.

Are you beginning to see a pattern?

The pattern is that all the dumps were multiples of 4,800.

But it didn't end there!

An hour and 26 minutes later, another dump reduced Trump's lead by 9,501 votes. At that point, Trump's lead had been reduced to about 48,000 votes.

Then an hour and 8 minutes later, a vote dump reduced Trump's lead by 9,606 votes.

An hour and 34 minutes later, a vote dump reduced Trump's lead by 4,827 votes.

Forty minutes later, a vote dump reduced his lead by 4,861 votes. Then 2 hours and 26 minutes later by 4,863. Four hours and 47 minutes later, a vote dump reduced Trump's lead by 4,864 votes. Biden was coming on strong!

Trump's lead was now only 9,625 votes. It was 10:53 UTC on Nov. 5. Bear in mind that while all this was happening, Trump was gaining votes or holding his own if you exclude the vote dumps.

Georgia was hanging in the balance, but not for long. Five hours later, a vote dump cut Trump's lead by 4,891. Five hours after that, a vote dump cut Trump's lead by another 4,913. At 21:58 UTC on Nov. 5, less than a thousand votes separated the candidates.

An hour later, a vote dump reduced Trump's lead by 4,916 votes, and two hours and 32 minutes later, the vote dump reduced Trump's lead by 4,953 votes.

The election was tied with each candidate having 2,447,591!

At 22:00 UTC, Nov. 6, a vote dump cut Trump's vote by 4,969, and Biden led 2,454,662 to 2,449,693, a lead of 4,969.

The final vote dump came at 23:52 UTC on Nov. 7, when Biden's lead widened by 4,983! The former Vice President had made an amazing comeback and was now leading by 10,000 votes!

Of course, the statistical possibility of Biden picking up multiples of 4,800 votes 16 times during this four-day period would be firmly in the impossible range. But it happened.

How did it happen? There is no possible explanation except vote fraud — fraud by manipulation of computer programs.

‼️ ‼️ ‼️ There is no longer any question that this election was stolen by computer. Page 1 of 2: This is a Critical Excerpt from a massively long article found in its entirety here: TWJ Exclusive: The Viral Memo Changing the Trump Legal Strategy https://www.westernjournal.com/twj-exclusive-viral-memo-changing-trump-legal-strategy/

This is all the more obvious in view of the fact the average of 4,800 or multiples thereof not only happened by adding votes to Biden but also by subtracting votes from Trump. The computer had to be programmed to produce net votes for Biden without being obvious. And they would have succeeded, if The New York Times had not kept such timely records and if somebody had not done some calculations.

The fraud in Georgia is all the more significant when one considers that exactly the same thing happened in Pennsylvania, except that the computer was programmed to add 6,000 votes at a time instead of 4,800.

In both states, the "votes" counted were not the votes of real people. They were simply added digitally, which a complete recount of both states would detect.

In years past, newspapers like ours have published precinct-by-precinct voting returns to let their readers know how the people in their community voted. Today, with so few people voting in their home precinct, that data is virtually useless.

With tens of millions of people voting early or by mail, only a fraction of votes are attributed to the voter's home precinct. Rather, they are simply lumped in with other votes from across the county or state. As a result, the only thing we can report on a precinct basis would the votes cast on election day at the precinct itself. That is a far cry from reporting how people in a given precinct voted. So it is impossible to determine where the votes are coming from.

In larger states such as Georgia and Pennsylvania, which had millions of early votes and mail-in ballots, the problem on November 2 was even greater. The public was told for days after the Nov. 3 election that "votes are still being counted." However, as new vote totals were uploaded, neither the public nor the media knew where those votes were from.

Fear generated by the virus created an acceptance of the widespread use of mail ballots, but there was no corresponding effort to insure that those ballots were being collected and counted honestly and correctly. On the contrary, some states actually reduced normal security safeguards on mail-in ballots.

In the aftermath of the Nov. 3 vote, the media never told the public how or why it was necessary to still be counting ballot days after Nov 3. The confusion and uncertainty of the "new normal" in elections led to acceptance of votes being uploaded without knowing where they came from.

On Election Day, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Donald Trump took an early and commanding lead.

By 22:54 UTC Nov. 4, President Trump was leading former Vice President Joe Biden by roughly 285,000 votes. However, that began to disappear as someone, somewhere began to dump "votes" into the system. There were 44 separate vote dumps, resulting in 347,768 votes being put into the system — all in increments of 6,000, 12,000, or 18,000 additional net votes for Joe Biden. The chart attached showed the 44 vote dumps. The NET gain to Biden was 11,679, 11,314, 5,662, 5,907, 11,388, 5,445, 11.035, 5,807, 5,782, 11,738, 5,975, 6,081, 5,938, 12,281, 11,841, 6.098, 18,577, 12,475, 12,552, 6,265, 6,385, 12,796, and so on — all multiples of 6,000!

The remarkable consistency of the votes added to Joe Biden's totals has shocked even Democratic office holders who have seen The New York Times' election data.

https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1cyZb1ckbMhm5D8HxG9FLTVUH1Im4se2nxrp4kv6qHRw/htmlview#gid=0

It was quite a feat for Joe Biden to come back from an election night defeat by 285,000 votes to a 46,000-vote margin of victory four days later. Election fraud has been around a very long time. However, election fraud by computer is something relatively new. The totals from Pennsylvania are conclusive proof that this election was stolen by computer fraud.

This election is proof that much more work will be necessary to insure free and fair elections in the future.

DoD Cyber Warfare Team Busted The Fraud In Pennsylvania

November 25, 2020 8:51 PM

The idiots added too many ballots files electronically and illegally to the system that it would have been physically impossible to add that many ballots in the alloted time that they did. Pennsylvania State Judge Upholds Halt To Certification, Finds Likelihood Mail-In Balloting Procedures Violate PA Constitution

Upholds injunction issued earlier in the week, finds "Petitioners appear to have a viable claim that the mail-in ballot procedures set forth in Act 77 contravene Pa. Const. Article VII Section 14"

A Pennsylvania state court Judge has issued a preliminary injunction preventing Pennsylvania from taking any further steps to perfect its certification of the election, including but not limited to appointment of electors and transmission of necessary paperwork to the Electoral College, pending further court hearings and rulings. The ruling upholds an injunction from earlier in the week, and is significant because of the findings made in the Opinion released tonight.

The Avenues of Corruption Are Never Ending Pennsylvania Poll Watcher Describes Election Irregularities, Including 47 Missing USB Cards https://www.theepochtimes.com/poll-watcher-describes-pennsylvania-election-irregularities-including-47-missing-usb-cards_3594549.html

‼️ Wow must read review of the facts. Nothing adds up but corruption ‼️

The following peculiarities lack compelling explanations:

1. Late on election night, with Trump comfortably ahead, many swing states stopped counting ballots. In most cases, observers were removed from the counting facilities. Counting generally continued without the observers
2. Statistically abnormal vote counts were the new normal when counting resumed. They were unusually large in size (hundreds of thousands) and had an unusually high (90 percent and above) Biden-to-Trump ratio
3. Late arriving ballots were counted. In Pennsylvania, 23,000 absentee ballots have impossible postal return dates and another 86,000 have such extraordinary return dates they raise serious questions
4. The failure to match signatures on mail-in ballots. The destruction of mail in ballot envelopes, which must contain signatures
5. Historically low absentee ballot rejection rates despite the massive expansion of mail voting. Such is Biden's narrow margin that, as political analyst Robert Barnes observes, 'If the states simply imposed the same absentee ballot rejection rate as recent cycles, then Trump wins the election'
6. Missing votes. In Delaware County, Pennsylvania, 50,000 votes held on 47 USB cards are missing
7. Non-resident voters. Matt Braynard's Voter Integrity Project estimates that 20,312 people who no longer met residency requirements cast ballots in Georgia. Biden's margin is 12,670 votes
8. Serious 'chain of custody' breakdowns. Invalid residential addresses. Record numbers of dead people voting. Ballots in pristine condition without creases, that is, they had not been mailed in envelopes as required by law
9. Statistical anomalies. In Georgia, Biden overtook Trump with 89 percent of the votes counted. For the next 53 batches of votes counted, Biden led Trump by the same exact 50.05 to 49.95 percent margin in every single batch.

It is particularly perplexing that all statistical anomalies and tabulation abnormalities were in Biden's favor. Whether the cause was simple human error or nefarious activity, or a combination, clearly something peculiar happened.

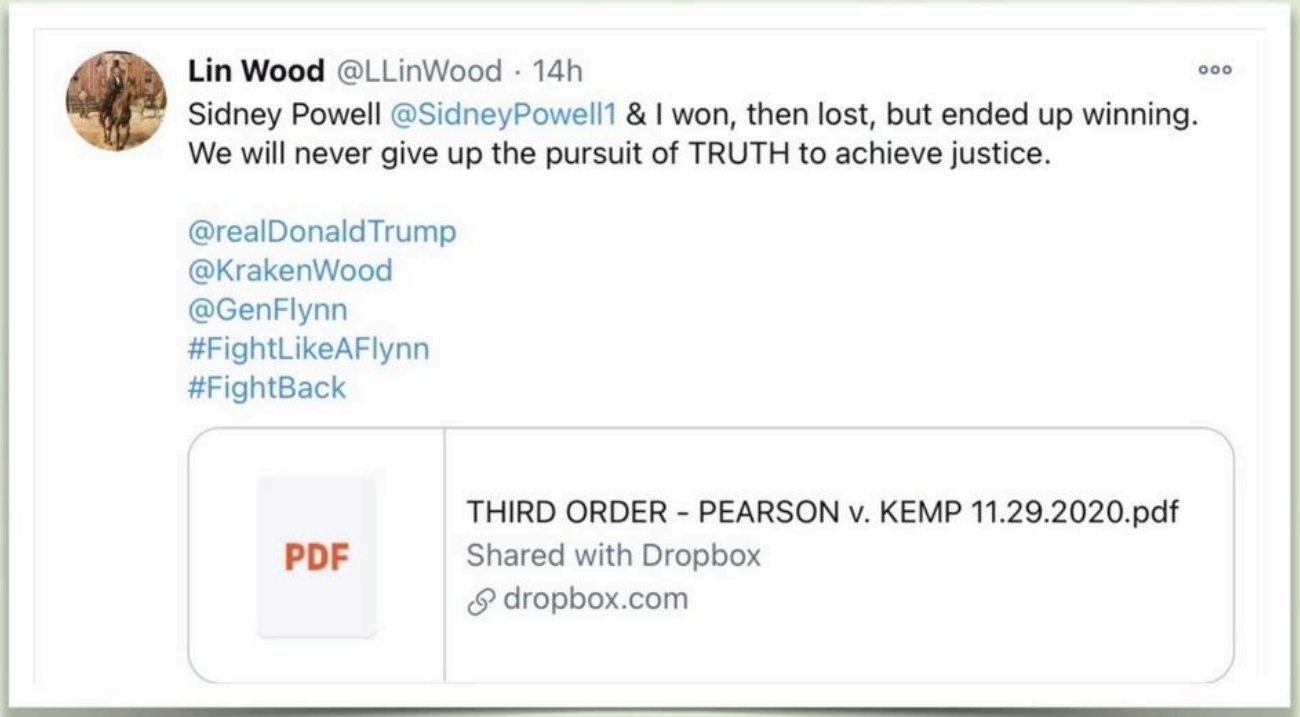

If you think that only weirdos have legitimate concerns about these findings and claims, maybe the weirdness lies in you.

Yes, but what are the odds that any evidence will remain? The commies will have moved immediately to destroy the evidence, no doubt the second Trump refused to concede. They most likely had swap-out drives set to go the second counts were accomplished, but there is more.

We know there is, because a tech testified before Congress years ago that he was contacted and asked to write such a program that would swop votes, and when finished at the end of the set time would erase itself, as though it never existed. I sat in on the hearing myself, so I know Congress knows this!

The Pennsylvania Steal

QUOTE EXCERPT
Waldren: At the very beginning of the chart, where there's a circle that says "On Election Day," what that indicates is there's a spike in loaded votes. 337,000-plus-or-minus-some votes that were added in there in one big batch. So that was an anomaly in the reporting. Normally you would expect to see a smooth curve going up, not any big spikes, that's kind of what Greg was talking about, the anomalies of loading and uploading those votes. So that big spike that occurs there is a prime indicator of fraudulent voting.

Giuliani: And that's [a total of] 604,000 votes in 90 minutes, is that right?

Waldren: Correct, this is [shows chart] 337,000 votes in that period of time.

Giuliani: And when you look at this entire curve, with all these spikes, can you calculate how much of a vote that accounted for for Biden, and how much for Trump?

Waldren: Close to 600,000. I think our figures were about 570-some-odd-thousand that all those spikes represent overtime.

Giuliani: For Biden?

Waldren: Correct.

Giuliani: And how much for Trump?

Waldren: I think it was a little over 3,200.
That's roughly 570,000 votes for Biden and 3,200 for Trump. Biden scooped up this enormous batch by 99.4 percent. Incredible. Impossible. Scandalous.

When Waldren said this, the audience in the room gasped in shock. (To watch the exchange, and the entire hearing, click here. This exchange begins at 1:28:00.)

https://www.breitbart.com/politics/2020/11/25/highlights-of-pennsylvania-republicans-hearing-on-election-irregularities/

If what Waldren alleges here is true, then this would constitute one of the most insidious examples of documented voter fraud in the history of American presidential politics. This one spike alone would have erased Donald Trump's 600,000-vote lead over Joe Biden late Tuesday night, November 3. Biden has reportedly won Pennsylvania by about 70,000 votes. This one swing would have done it. If this is true, then this episode alone might well constitute a smoking gun affirming a fraudulent election in Pennsylvania.

Expert Blows Arizona Voter Fraud Out of the Market

Bobby Piton, an investment adviser and managing partner at Pre-Active Investments, LLC, was suspended by Twitter on the same day he testified that as many as 306,000 "fake people" voted in the Arizona election.

He claimed that after analyzing government voter registration and census data, in his opinion the "biggest fraud in the history of our constitutional republic is taking place right before our eyes."

While the hearing took place, Arizona officials certified the results of the 2020 election. Former Vice President Joe Biden defeated President Donald Trump, earning 49.4% of the vote to Trump's 49.1%. More than 3.2 million ballots were cast and voter turnout surged to nearly 80%.

"I would have never ever have certified, I would rather resign than have certified those results," Piton said during his testimony.

"If I was an executive at a publicly traded company, I would never sign that because I risk jail time and having all my money taken from me in lawsuits," he added. "I believe [the numbers] are fraudulent based on the data. ... I'd be willing to put my life on it, I'm that sure about the analysis."

Re: Presidential Election

Everything I am about to say is what I would say under oath, under penalty of law. I believe it to be the Truth, nothing but the Truth, so help me God.

A quick recap. I pulled the last 22 years of eligible registered voter data off the AZ State Government's website. (https://azsos.gov/elections/voter-registration-historical-election-data) Using the official AZ Government reported data, I created metadata for the last 22 years of elections in AZ. I would like to run the metadata for election information prior to 1998 as well, but it is not published on the AZ Secretary of States website listed above.

I previously provided all my statistical data and explained in my December 8th, 2020 email to you all, that my calculations show there are as many as 460,000 "Phantom Sleeper Voters". I believe this fraud started back in 1998, perhaps earlier. Some have commented that my "mathematical speak" is like trying to understand a foreign language so I will do my best to explain what the data shows and how I came to this conclusion.

Starting in the 1998 and 2000 election cycles, I noticed some irregularities. In 1998, AZ reported a nearly 46% voter turnout of all registered voters. Between 1998 and 2000, the AZ Secretary of State's office reported that the number of registered voters had dropped by 91,000 voters. (5% reduction in registered voters)

What I find statistically interesting is that while there was a 5% reduction in the number of those of legal voting age that registered to vote in 2000, the number of registered voters that actually did vote in the 2000 general election spiked far above the 46% in 1998, to almost 72% in 2000. A 24% increase in a 2-year period. It is such a monumental change, that 1 out of every 3 voters in 2000 was "New" or "U's" in the making.

I understand that more people show up to vote during Presidential election years, but by this much, with a 5% decline in registered voters? Think about that for a moment. While we as a nation were focused on the hanging chads incident in FL in 2000, we might have missed the hard questions about what happened in AZ.

Looking at the "Big Picture" of what the metadata shows, even more glaring statistical anomalies are seen. In 1998, the reported number of registered voters in AZ was 2.264 million. In 2020, the reported number of registered voters was 4.281 million. This data reflects an 89% increase in reported registered voters in AZ. What you should find especially interesting is that this 89% increase in voters outpaced population growth by 2 to 1. This is based on Arizona's estimated population numbers. If you were to believe in my population estimate, the number climbs to 2.56 to 1.

AZ experienced a 44% population growth between 1998 and 2020, adding 2.2 million people to the state. What I find UNBELIEVABLE, and you should too, is that even though the total number of people in the great state of Arizona grew by 2.2 million people from 1998 to 2020, 2.383 million more people voted in 2020 vs 1998. Wow! That means that every SINGLE NEW PERSON that was added to its population since 1998 voted. That must mean that no one under the age of 18 moved into the state. Is it really believable that no one under 18 moved into the state in 22 years??

Not only did every single new registered voter that was added over the past 20 years vote… an additional 166,000 came out of the woodwork, which would push the number of people that voted back in 1998 to almost 80% if they would have just showed up in 2000 vs 2020.

You MUST ask yourself, how can this be? Did ONLY legal adults of voting age and older move into your great state in the past 22 years? Or is there a better explanation?

My initial estimate was that there were 120-306K Phantom Sleeper Voters. Now, my new floor is 166K to 460K.

Surprise, surprise, there are 463,000 U voters in the Core Data Set of reported registered voters in AZ!

In my testimony, I discussed U voters. I found that after creating 984,000 unique voter classes out of 1.82 million possibilities, that the correlation of U voters across every county and age was 94%

What does this mean?

The U voters are almost like a foreign army. They don't shoot with bullets but with fraudulent votes. They wait in the wings to be deployed. Imagine if you will that 23 people same age, sex and voting type were going in to vote and that 14 ballots were cast for Candidate A and 9 ballots were Candidate B.

You then brought out 5 Phantom Voters from your digital army and had them vote for Candidate B....

The next step is to figure out who to call on... well, you have an army across every age... with 94% correlation. The initial number set must have been done so by the maximum number of that age cohort in the data... which tied out to the 99% correlation I found when running a correlation against the average number of U voters by age by the max number of U voters by age.

So, depending on what the number should look like based on when different groups of voters and different ages vote across all of the counties, the U voters are directed to who to eliminate. If too many 45 year-old voters showed up to vote... send in a 45 U voter after that 45 voter votes. Go in and annihilate the real voter that is 45 M or 45 F, with an opposing vote, and insert the U. Now, the 45 U voter goes back to empty and a voter that voted or did not vote (it works in placing a U voter into a real voter's spot if they estimate they are unlikely to vote this cycle) shows the U vote's vote. When one goes back to look at the files, they find that a real voter voted and the #PhantomSleeperVoter didn't, even though they find evidence they do exist.

The only way to catch this is to look at the time stamps of when the voter files have been modified. An interesting thing occurred after AZ, a Congressional Race in PA contacted me and sent me their state data for 520,000+ records. When I reviewed that data, I found that over 40% or 200,000 records were modified a day after the election. BINGO!!

So now 1000's of other people go vote, and they fall into this probability table just right and things flow. So how do you keep track of all of these moving voters? Probability Matrix and VWAP mathematics.

Based on Testimony by Liz Harris, there were so called "poll observers" in the voting areas on laptops. Please reference her testimony found in this clip:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QfC2T7UpxkI About 6 hours and 9 minutes in.

The Core Model looks and sees who is forecast to vote versus who voted to determine which Phantom Voters need to get off the bench. This Model would have never been discovered if the turnout of different age voters behaved in a more historical pattern. This process was repeated in 30-90 minute increments, perhaps less frequently depending on the number of votes that needed to be "switched" at any given interval to match Weighted Average Vote Percent. My understanding is the manual of some of these machines use this exact language unbeknownst to me.

The machines being turned off and "Vote Counting" being halted was to figure out how many Phantom Voters were needed to "True Up" (a term used in the futures and stock markets) the Target Percentage.

The best non-mathematical example I can think of is Rainman. He went to Vegas and played against a 6 deck shoe and people didn't believe anyone could compute odds past that. The American public blew through the odds yet again in this election, which caused this entire scam to be exposed.

Let me summarize the correlation across all 1500 precincts again. It tied out so nicely because the Phantom Voters were tied out to actual voters of that age. When a phantom voter took the place of a 45M for example; The U voter file was cleared out and tagged clerical error and that U vote was put into my file. When people go back and look over fraudulent, non-existent voters they get discouraged because they determine, yes they aren't real, but they didn't vote. Then when they go to me, a real voter, they don't know who I voted for and I say "I voted" and they see that in fact I had a vote registered in my name. Quite a fraud.

I provided Liz Harris with a list of 95,000 people out of 4,300,000 that I thought were suspect. She has now knocked on 2000 of them randomly and connected with 1000... would you believe that 539 were "phantom voters"? They didn't exist, yet "lived" there. The system is flawed because voters are asked to declare which party they are registered for when they go into vote. This allows them to cut the number of possibilities that need to be computed significantly to pull off the computational requirements.

How did I figure all of this out?

It goes back to what I mentioned about the PA Congressional race. I received the state data in a congressional district in PA and I noticed some very odd information in modified date fields. I consider myself a classical school analyst. I like to pour over the raw data in its purity and never look at end reports first, but rather look at the data and see what information comes out from the patterns my mind spots by looking at 100's of thousands of records. It's relaxing to me... Go figure.

Once again, over 40% of the votes were modified ... Get this, on 11/4/2020. Over 200,000+ voter files were modified a day after the election. I tried to get this file for AZ and was told they don't let anyone see it until January... I wonder why??

In the stock market, every price and volume associated with that price is tracked to the millionth of a second. An exchange is created to serve as the referee.

President Trump should sign an Executive Order and subpoena all of the sec/minute files of votes cast across all counties and map it out to the U's. You'll know which American had their vote stolen and at what time.

This entire process has been extremely sad to me. I've been praying a lot for the past week; doubling my rosary time to get the Lord's guidance. I've come to some conclusions.

Both the Democrats and Republicans have been cheating in varying degrees over the past 2 decades. This is why the odds of flipping any seat for an incumbent was so low for decades. Pay to play comes to mind; Wink, wink, don't tell.

These processes have been manufactured by some very corrupt people. I went over how this could have been pulled off technologically yesterday with a close advisor to the President. I have more data to report to them which I will be hopefully getting to them this week.

Our government has been hijacked by some very bad Americans with the aid of an even worse foreign nation or two.

In closing, I look forward to having other mathematicians look over my work. Remember, this is not about Parties... both Parties had people cheating us.....all of us. While there have been great Americans in the Democrat Party and Republican Party of the past, America took a dark turn at about the turn of the Century. We owe it to ourselves and to future generations to correct our present course.

The Truth will set us all free and bring back our Nation as one American family.

I love this saying by JFK that we should never forget. He said this during the Height of the Cold War

"We must never forget our most basic common links; that we all inhabit this small planet; we all breathe the same air; we all cherish our children's future; and we are all mortal."

God Bless you, your family and your friends and may God continue to bless all Americans and humanity.

P.S. I believe all free spirits around the world are American at Heart.

WATCH LIVE... USPS WHISTLEBLOWERS COME FORWARD: Driver Delivered Hundreds of Thousands of Completed Ballots Across Three State Lines

Posted by Cassandra Fairbanks

New election fraud whistleblowers came forward on Tuesday, including one who witnessed the shipping of an estimated 144,000-288,000 completed ballots across three state lines on...

A second whistleblower, Nathan Pease of Madison, Wisconsin, was also a USPS subcontractor. He says that on November 4 and November 5, two separate postal workers informed him that the USPS was gathering tens of thousands of ballots and backdating the postmarks to November 3 so that they may be counted — despite the deadline already passing.

"Mr. Pease's sworn statement coincides in time with a dramatic ballot dump on the morning of November 5 which heavily favored Mr. Biden and which has caused significant controversy within the expert community regarding the statistical probability of the late insertion of tens of thousands of ballots in favor of a single candidate on the morning after the election," Amistad Project said in a statement.

Link over : https://hannity.com/media-room/breaking-video-shows-4-workers-moving-suitcases-filled-with-ballots-in-atlanta-after-others-told-to-leave/

This video from the arena shows that the Republican poll watchers were told the counting would stop for the night and resume in the morning. After everyone left four individuals, including the woman who instructed everyone to leave, remained behind and pulled hidden suitcases full of ballots from under a cloth covered table and continued to count them until 1 o’clock in the morning. Bases on the number of ballots that would fit in the four said suitcases and the time spend counting in secret were enough to flip the vote to Biden. It also coincides with a spike for Biden in the ballot tabulations, shown in my next post. Click on this link to see the video: https://youtu.be/x-7E-71Av0k

This coincides with the previous post of the video cameras. https://twitter.com/JennaEllisEsq/status/1334943817418600448?

Earlier on Thursday Cristina Laila reported on the explosive video that was revealed during the Georgia ballot counting at the State Farm Arena where crooked Democrats pulled out suitcases full of ballots and began counting those ballots without election monitors in the room.

Trump's legal team showed a video from the State Farm Arena tabulation center when poll workers were told to leave at 10:25 PM.

GEORGIA — ABSENTEE BALLOTS

No return address on any of the privacy envelopes! Which makes them all illegal ballots, but she is required to scan them in to validate them anyway. So are they totally faked ballots? It doesn't matter because they are invalid without the return address. How many thousands are in all those boxes she showed us lining the hallway?

On video this woman just walked us through a hallway filled with boxes containing bins of invalid votes she is required to scan into the system to be counted as valid votes. VOTER FRAUD

GA WAS A CESSPOOL OF VOTER CORRUPTION AND STILL IS. They cost us the Senate and contributed to the presidential loss and still nothing was done to stop them. No county votes any where near 100%. Yet they want us to believe GA did that, and expect us to accept this fraud as well:

In September 2020, Judicial Watch released a study revealing that 353 U.S. counties had 1.8 million more registered voters than eligible voting-age citizens. In other words, the registration rates of those counties exceeded 100% of eligible voters.

StateSen Recommends Decertifying GA Electors

The report released 22 Dec, concluses massive election fraud occurred before, during and after the Nov 3 election.

Executive summary of the report:

The November 3, 2020 General Election (the "Election") was chaotic and any reported results must be viewed as untrustworthy. The Subcommittee took evidence from witnesses and received affidavits sworn under oath.

The Subcommittee heard evidence that proper protocols were not used to ensure chain of custody of the ballots throughout the Election, after the opening of ballots prior to the Election, and during the recounts.

The Subcommittee heard testimony that it was possible or even likely that large numbers of fraudulent ballots were introduced into the pool of ballots that were counted as voted; there is no way of tracing the ballots after they have been separated from the point of origin.

The Subcommittee heard testimony of pristine ballots whose origin looked suspicious or which could not be verified and the inability of poll workers to distinguish between test ballots and absentee ballots. Signatures were not consistently verified according to law in the absentee balloting process.

Poll watchers on Election Night testified that they had noted that ballots were not secured, that seals and security tags were not used, and the chain of custody was often lax or non-existent.

During the recount process, the monitors observed similar patterns of unsecured ballots that had broken seals and open cases of ballots laying around for hours or overnight in unsecured locations.

There was a lack of enforcement of the law, sloppy handling of the ballots by those counting, deliberate covering-up of voting numbers by workers, lack of following the process during the recount, unsafe handling of military ballots, and insecure data such as on laptops and flash drives.

According to submitted testimony, there were also many equipment failures when ballots would not go through the machines and other times when ballots were counted more than once.

A great deal of testimony supported evidence of a coordinated effort to prevent a transparent process of observing the counting of ballots during the absentee ballot opening period and on Election Night.

Witnesses testified to hostility to Republican poll workers during the recount - directional signage was unavailable, doors were locked, and Republican poll watchers were sent home early or given menial assignments.

Monitors throughout the state were often kept at an unreasonably long distance - some social distancing was understandable, but monitors were blocked from having the visual ability to see what was written on the ballots or to have any meaningful way to check the counting or to double-check that what was counted was actually assigned to the right candidate.

They also could not observe what was entered into the ARLO system, nor could they be told the count that was being entered into ARLO. Instead, they were told that those numbers would be totaled and come back from the Secretary of State's Office.

They were also told not to take pictures, film, or have other means of acquiring proof of the process that they were experiencing based on a rule from the State Elections Board. That rule contravenes the spirit and purpose of the election law.

The Virginia StateSen is correct. The entire purpose of our military is to defend us against foreign AND DOMESTIC enemies. The majority of Americans agree that this election is an attempted coup byway of an election steal and thus an attack by both. The Democrats colluded with foreign enemies to steal this election. There has never been a more appropriate time for the military to step in, failing to do so leaves the confrontation to the citizens, which is a dereliction of the military's most sacred and sworn duties.Read full article: https://bigleaguepolitics.com/study-the-constitution-general-michael-flynn-slams-rino-congressman-for-rejecting-martial-law-to-overturn-vote-steal/

BIG PROTEST JAN 6 D.C.
On January 6 on the House floor, I will OBJECT to fraudulent electoral votes from several states at the Capitol. But I cannot do this alone. I must have a grassroots army behind me. We have a rapidly growing group of House Members and Senators. But more pressure is needed!
First: Sign your petition to FIGHT FOR TRUMP. After you sign, call your Representative and Senators urging they FIGHT FOR TRUMP and OBJECT to the voter fraud from several states.
Representative: 202-225-3121
Senators: 202-224-3121

The selling out of America has been happening, in a long line of presidents except Trump, but Biden is the floodgate. Even now it is seen in all the orders Biden is issuing that is damaging our national security, and removing safeguards to our Republic.

Example he just had a Zoom meeting with his officials even though he knows China watches everything through Zoom. How do we know he knows China does this? Because military headquarters sent down a directive that military personnel not use Zoom or TikTok. What did Biden also do? He canceled the Trump order that, China owned TikTok, sell its American interest. So Biden in effect told the world that America is compromised, and he will allow China to spy on every American and every American entity. Biden is compromised.
The Left, both inside and outside the government, are now Communists run by the Chinese party. The evidence so prolific even our military warns repeatedly that China is our greatest threat. Yet no one did anything to stop the election steal. Americans need to understand what is at stake. You have no rights to anything dead or alive under Communism.
‼️See this video spelling out what the Communists are doing and add it to what you already know. This election must be corrected in the courts: https://www.theepochtimes.com/2020-election-investigation-who-is-stealing-america_3617562.html

There wasn't any additional information beyond what you see here. So my question is, does this represent where the masterminds funneled the corrupt votes or did these countries have a hand in the fraud separately?

BREAKING: SCOTUS to hear fraud cases 19 February 2021. I wouldn't trust any of them further than I can spit

Use the load function to scroll back to the beginning where the statistical data is that proves the Biden win was statistically impossible. It is listed on two black paged posts.

By Kevin Monahan, Cynthia McFadden and Didi Martinez

It was an assurance designed to bolster public confidence in the way America votes: Voting machines “are not connected to the internet.”
Then Acting Undersecretary for Cybersecurity and Communications at the Department of Homeland Security Jeanette Manfra said those words in 2017, testifying before Congress while she was responsible for the security of the nation’s voting system.

So many government officials like Manfra have said the same thing over the last few years that it is commonly accepted as gospel by most Americans. Behind it is the notion that if voting systems are not online, hackers will have a harder time compromising them.
But that is an overstatement, according to a team of 10 independent cybersecurity experts who specialize in voting systems and elections. While the voting machines themselves are not designed to be online, the larger voting systems in many states end up there, putting the voting process at risk.
That team of election security experts say that last summer, they discovered some systems are, in fact, online.
“We found over 35 [voting systems] had been left online and we’re still continuing to find more,” Kevin Skoglund, a senior technical advisor at the election security advocacy group National Election Defense Coalition, told NBC News.
Kevin Skoglund, senior technical advisor at the National Election Defense Coalition.NBC News
“We kept hearing from election officials that voting machines were never on the internet,” he said. “And we knew that wasn't true. And so we set out to try and find the voting machines to see if we could find them on the internet, and especially the back-end systems that voting machines in the precinct were connecting to to report their results.”
Skoglund and his team developed a tool that scoured the internet to see if the central computers that program voting machines and run the entire election process at the precinct level were online. Once they had identified such systems, they contacted the relevant election officials and also provided the information to reporter Kim Zetter, who published the findings in Vice’s Motherboard in August.
The three largest voting manufacturing companies — Election Systems &Software, Dominion Voting Systems and Hart InterCivic — have acknowledged they all put modems in some of their tabulators and scanners. The reason? So that unofficial election results can more quickly be relayed to the public. Those modems connect to cell phone networks, which, in turn, are connected to the internet.
The largest manufacturer of voting machines, ES&S, told NBC News their systems are protected by firewalls and are not on the “public internet.” But both Skoglund and Andrew Appel, a Princeton computer science professor and expert on elections, said such firewalls can and have been breached.
“AT&T and Verizon and so on try and protect as best they can the security of their phone network from the rest of the internet, but it’s still part of the internet,” Appel explained. “There can still be security holes that allow hackers to get into the phone network."

The 35 systems Skoglund's team found represent a fraction of total voting systems nationwide, though he believes they only captured a portion of the systems that are or have been online. Earlier this week, Skoglund showed NBC three election systems were still online even after officials had been told they were vulnerable.

For election systems to be online, even momentarily, presents a serious problem, according to Appel.

"Once a hacker starts talking to the voting machine through the modem, the hacker cannot just change these unofficial election results, they can hack the software in the voting machine and make it cheat in future elections," he said.

The National Institute of Standards and Technology, which provides cybersecurity frameworks for state and local governments and other organizations, recommends that voting systems should not have wireless network connections.

Skoglund said that they identified only one company among the systems they detected on line, ES&S. ES&S confirmed they had sold scanners with wireless modems to at least 11 states. Skoglund says those include the battleground states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida.

While the company's website states that "zero" of its voting tabulators are connected to the internet, ES&S told NBC News 14,000 of their DS200 tabulators with online modems are currently in use around the country.

New questions about voting machines as 2020 election approaches

DEC. 19, 201902:30

NBC News asked the two other major manufacturers how many of their tabulators with modems were currently in use. Hart said that it has approximately 1,600 such tabulators in use in 11 counties in Michigan. Dominion did not respond to numerous requests from NBC News for their sales numbers.

'Vulnerable to hacking'

With the 2020 presidential election only ten months away, Appel and Skoglund believe all modems can and should be removed from election systems.

"Modems in voting machines are a bad idea," said Appel. "Those modems that ES&S [and other manufacturers] are putting in their voting machines are network connections, and that leaves them vulnerable to hacking by anybody who can connect to that network."

The state of Michigan is currently grappling with this issue. Since the 2016 election, Michigan authorized $82 million dollars to upgrade its election systems. Some of that money was spent on tabulators with wireless modems. But now, some state officials worry that the machines may pose a security risk and are pushing to have the modems removed.
Others are not so sure, and the state has set up an advisory committee.
Jake Rollow, director of communications for the Michigan Department of State, said in a statement to NBC News, “Even though the results are unofficial, if these unofficial results were disrupted or manipulated, it could still cause confusion on Election Day.”
"The department will consider the advisory commission’s recommendations to improve the security of the process," Rollow continued. "The specific steps taken would depend on the recommendation and the timeline required to make changes effectively.”

Oregon officials say vote-by-mail system improves security and turnout

NOV. 2, 201802:41

Last fall, when ES&S gave NBC News an exclusive tour at its headquarters in Omaha, Neb., Chief Executive Officer Tom Burt defended using modems when asked about the Sprint and Verizon modems seen in ES&S's testing area.
“There’s a small percentage of jurisdictions in the country -- a lot of them are in Florida -- who have decided they want to modem unofficial results to the election office,” he said. “Generally speaking, the media in those locations are kinda clamoring to get unofficial results as quickly as possible.”
When asked if the desire for speed was at odds with accuracy and security, Burt said, “it’s not my place to judge that.”
NBC News reached out to the Department of Homeland Security, which declined to comment on the topic of modem security in voting machine tabulators and scanners.

'Inviting trouble'

Critics also argue ES&S has mislead jurisdictions into thinking their DS200 tabulators with modems are certified by the U.S. Election Assistance Commission, a claim they say is grounds for an investigation.

In a letter obtained by NBC News sent to the EAC on Tuesday, the nonprofit public interest group Free Speech for People and the National Election Defense Coalition asked the agency to look into whether ES&S violated agency regulations by implying that DS200 voting machines with modems are EAC certified.

“ES&S has repeatedly advertised its DS200 with internal modem — a critical component to ES&S’s voting systems — as being EAC certified when, in fact, it is not,” the letter said. “We therefore again respectfully request that EAC investigate and take action to correct this serious issue.”

Manufacturers who make voting machines testify before Congress

JAN. 9, 202001:00

“Once you add that modem, you are de-certifying it,” Skoglund said. “It is no longer federally certified. And I don't know that all these jurisdictions are aware of that because ES&S is advertising otherwise.”

But Skogland points to some good news. He believes there is time to make real change before the 2020 election.

“We should be unplugging all of these machines from the internet,” Skoglund said. “Even for elections nights.”

Appel agreed. “We can not make our computers perfectly secure," he said. "What we should do is remove all of the unnecessary, hackable pathways, such as modems. We should not connect our voting machines directly to the computer networks. That is just inviting trouble.”

These two tech experts also agree on the path forward, saying they are comforted by the fact that most Americans will vote this year on hand-marked paper ballots which are counted by machine and can be recounted by hand if the situation warrants.

The machines America votes on seem to be capturing the interest of some in Congress. The House Committee on Administration held a congressional hearing yesterday which was the first time the heads of the three major vendors, representing at least 80 percent of U.S. voting machines, appeared together for questioning. While lawmakers questioned them about foreign influence in their supply chains and whether they would comply with more federal reporting requirements, the presence of modems in some of their tabulators was mentioned but not pursued.

EDITOR'S NOTE (Feb. 7, 2020, 11:15 p.m.): A previous version of this article stated that Kevin Skoglund and his team had found election systems using ES&S scanners with wireless modems connected to the internet in 11 states and the District of Columbia. The coalition says it is no longer certain that the number of states is correct, so the figure has been removed from the article.

Hacking Critical Election Infrastructure

Apart from weaponizing information and using social to hack hearts and minds, hacking critical election infrastructure is also doable. In 2016, hackers breached databases for election systems in Illinois and Arizona, in the United States. This explains why as part of proactive election security measure, 36 states in the US have deployed Albert Sensors, a cybersecurity detection system that could detect hacking attempts and send alerts to federal and state government agencies. If the United States which parades some of the best cybersecurity brasses and professionals, struggles to ward of cyber-attacks, one wonders the fate of Nigeria where fire-brigade approach is a state policy. Interestingly, I read the Director General of Nigeria's National Information Technology Development Agency (NITDA), Dr. Isa Pantami recently saying that the 2019 general elections may be disrupted if adequate information technology security measures were not put in place. Dr. Pantami raised the alarm at the 10th annual conference organised by Information Systems Audit and Control Association (ISACA), Abuja Chapter. He was quoted as saying, ''terrorists may disrupt the national elections by hacking into the voter registration database of the Independent National Electoral Commission (INEC)''. Perhaps Nigeria should consider the aforesaid ''Sensors''. We are also are of the Independent National Electoral Commission (INEC) saying it will transmit the results of the results of the 2019 general elections from the 119,973 polling units nationwide electronically and in real time through the Nigerian Communications Satellites Limited (NIGCOMSAT's) satellite. May I remind the INEC and Nigeria's national security agencies that commercial satellites can be hijacked, or hacked. The Hackers News reports about an incident where a group of Russian hackers, most notably the Turla APT (Advanced Persistent Threat) reportedly hijacked a commercial satellite.

Conclusion

As the defining 2019 general election approaches, Nigeria must ramp up cyber-defence capability and cybersecurity standards to counter weaponized information, disinformation and influence operations on our democratic process by domestic and foreign vested interests. It is imperative that the National Assembly expedites passage of a robust data protection framework and privacy laws in Nigeria with a view to protecting citizen's data from data breaches. The European Union GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation) is a classic template.

And so we set out to try and find the voting machines to see if we could find them on the internet, and especially the back-end systems that voting machines in the precinct were connecting to to report their results.”

Skoglund and his team developed a tool that scoured the internet to see if the central computers that program voting machines and run the entire election process at the precinct level were online. Once they had identified such systems, they contacted the relevant election officials and also provided the information to reporter Kim Zetter, who published the findings in Vice’s Motherboard in August.

The three largest voting manufacturing companies — Election Systems &Software, Dominion Voting Systems and Hart InterCivic — have acknowledged they all put modems in some of their tabulators and scanners. The reason? So that unofficial election results can more quickly be relayed to the public. Those modems connect to cell phone networks, which, in turn, are connected to the internet.

The largest manufacturer of voting machines, ES&S, told NBC News their systems are protected by firewalls and are not on the “public internet.” But both Skoglund and Andrew Appel, a Princeton computer science professor and expert on elections, said such firewalls can and have been breached.

“AT&T and Verizon and so on try and protect as best they can the security of their phone network from the rest of the internet, but it’s still part of the internet,” Appel explained. “There can still be security holes that allow hackers to get into the phone network.”

The 35 systems Skoglund’s team found represent a fraction of total voting systems nationwide, though he believes they only captured a portion of the systems that are or have been online. Earlier this week, Skoglund showed NBC three election systems were still online even after officials had been told they were vulnerable.

For election systems to be online, even momentarily, presents a serious problem, according to Appel.

“Once a hacker starts talking to the voting machine through the modem, the hacker cannot just change these unofficial election results, they can hack the software in the voting machine and make it cheat in future elections,” he said.

The National Institute of Standards and Technology, which provides cybersecurity frameworks for state and local governments and other organizations, recommends that voting systems should not have wireless network connections.

Skoglund said that they identified only one company among the systems they detected on line, ES&S. ES&S confirmed they had sold scanners with wireless modems to at least 11 states. Skoglund says those include the battleground states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida.

While the company’s website states that “zero” of its voting tabulators are connected to the internet, ES&S told NBC News 14,000 of their DS200 tabulators with online modems are currently in use around the country
