Global Ground Interference Cancellation Market Challenge:

Imposed Sanctions on Various Countries to Reduce the Export Demand of Military Vehicles – Various developing countries with low investment in research & development (R&D) and less exposure to advanced technology to strengthen & modernize their military prefer to import from other countries with matured technology for military weapons & vehicles. However, some major economies & organizations, such as the US, the UK, the United Nations (UN), etc., have imposed sanctions & trade embargoes on other countries like Russia, Italy, and many more with an advanced military foundation.

This has led to reduced trade with import-dependent countries. Therefore, due to the imposed sanctions, the orders for new military armored vehicles have been dwindling gradually. Hence, these factors have also downsized the demand for installing different devices & parts, like cancellation systems in the vehicle systems, and have posed a challenge for the interference cancellation installation.
