

D7 Passive Income Residency visa- Types

Once you start living in Portugal, you may apply for the actual residence permit from the Portuguese Immigration and Borders Service (SEF). You must provide sufficient documents in favour of your application. If your documents are correct and complete, then SEF will approve your application, based on which you will be granted a residence card. The card will be valid for two years, however, you can renew it after every two years.
