

NGO-Led Initiatives Driving Female Employment in India

Despite significant strides in various sectors, women in India continue to face numerous challenges in accessing employment opportunities and participating fully in the workforce. However, NGO-led initiatives are driving change by creating pathways for women to enter and excel in diverse fields of employment. Through targeted interventions such as skills training, mentorship programs, and advocacy for women's rights, these organizations are to overcome barriers and pursue careers that align with their aspirations and abilities.