

InventHelp Reviews: A Guide for New Inventors

Many people who come up with great invention ideas are keen to get help and support from those in the know. This is why many have turned to the experts at InventHelp, which is a well-known inventor services company that has already helped many new inventors over the years. While a lot of people come up with great ideas for inventions, not everyone knows what steps they need to take or how to move forward with their idea. This often results in people giving up on their idea, which means that they lose out on a bright future, and the world potentially misses out on a great invention. ## #Inventors

InventHelp is a leading specialist company that helps to reduce the risk of this happening by providing new inventors with the support and assistance that they need. Having been in business for decades, the expert team at this company has the necessary knowledge, expertise, and experience to help new inventors on many levels.

However, no matter how well-known a company is, it is important to do your own research before you make any commitments. This is why it is a good idea to check out InventHelp reviews online and also look at InventHelp reviews and testimonials from other new inventors that have already used the company.

In this InventHelp review, we will look at things such as the pros and cons of using the company, and also learn more about InventHelp along the way. In addition, you can read a few InventHelp reviews submitted by past clients, and you can check out the details questions and answers section to give you a much better idea of what to expect from this company.

InventHelp Reviews – Learn More About the Provider

By checking out this InventHelp review, and other reviews of the company, you will be able to make your choice with far greater ease. This is why reading InventHelp reviews before you make any decisions is so important, as you can then ensure that this is the right provider for you.

One thing that you should keep in mind when it comes to finding an invention service provider is that you need to find one with a solid reputation for your own peace of mind and protection. One thing that we can confirm in this InventHelp review is that this company has been around for more than three decades, and this means that it is established, has a solid reputation, and has a proven track record.

Another thing you want from an invention service provider is honesty and transparency rather than a fly-by-night provider that will make lots of false promises about guaranteed success just to get your custom and money. There are no guarantees when it comes to the success of inventions, and any provider that does provide you with a guarantee of success needs to be avoided. Fortunately, this is not something that you will get from InventHelp, and this is a provider that prides itself on honesty and transparency at all times.

Many of the past clients of InventHelp have left reviews, and a lot of these InventHelp reviews have spoken about the high level of support the team has provided. This is something to take on board, as getting the right level of support is crucial when you are new to the world of inventing. Proper support and guidance can make it easier for you to move forward with your idea and reduce the risk of you giving up on your dreams. The high service level is something that the team at InventHelp appears to excel at, as it is referred to a lot by other new inventors. When you research this company and read the questions and answers section included in this InventHelp review, you will be able to get a far better feel for how it all works and what is involved. Of course, you can contact the company if you have additional questions or want to discuss your needs, and you should be able to get timely advice from the friendly team. This is a company that charges for its services, so this is something to keep in mind. The costs do vary from case to case, so you will be able to speak to the team about this in order to get an idea of the cost. While taking costs into consideration is important when it comes to using this type of service, you must also ensure you look at reputation, experience, and reviews. It is also worth noting that this provider takes the confidentiality of inventors' ideas and designs very seriously. There are processes in place to protect this information, and this means that you will not have to continually worry about your invention idea or design falling into the wrong hands.

Making sure you look at the bigger picture and take on board everything you read in the InventHelp reviews means that you can make up your mind with far greater ease.

Some InventHelp Reviews from Clients

It is always worth drawing on the experiences of other new inventors who have already tried out the services of this provider, and you can do this by reading through the InventHelp reviews that they have posted. Some of these are:

“InventHelp's rep was awesome. He talked to me whenever I had a question and gave me his cellphone number. It's very hard to catch up with me 'cause I'm always on the go. Still, he would text with me back and forth, answering my questions and making sure that I was comfortable with speaking with him. Prior to talking to him about any of my stuff, he wanted to make sure that he sent me a form to fill out saying it was okay to talk to him about it, even though I spoke to him previously. I loved the professionalism he had. We were able to really hit it off.” – Roderique, Chicago

“After looking at everything and researching, I liked what I read about InventHelp and gave it a shot. It was one of the best decisions I ever made. I followed the instructions and everything else was laid out. I had nothing to do but sit back and say yes or no to stuff. They hadn't left me out on anything every step of the way. They hadn't forgotten anything.” – Rahsaan, TX

“Our daughter recommended we call InventHelp and we went with that recommendation. Their reps were really helpful and we have an appointment with them next month to advance our project. They did well explaining all the steps that we have to go through. So far, communication has been good and they stayed in contact with us.” – Serena, WA

As you can see from this sample of the many InventHelp reviews that can be found online, many new inventors have been delighted with the service levels and communication from InventHelp.

Q&A

In addition to reading InventHelp reviews and reviews from other inventors, it can prove hugely helpful to look at FAQs about the company. You can learn a tremendous amount by doing this, as you can benefit from detailed answers like the ones in this InventHelp review.

By reading frequently asked questions from those interested in the services of InventHelp, you can learn more about the company, its mission and history, and how these experts can help new inventors.

Is InventHelp a Large Company?

Many new inventors have heard about InventHelp but they are unsure as to the scope and size of the business. Well, the company has actually been running since the mid-1980s, which means that you can benefit from using a provider with well over three decades of experience when it comes to providing services to new inventors. This can provide you with added reassurance and peace of mind when it comes to finding a suitable provider to help with your invention.

The company also has offices in more than 65 cities across the United States and Canada, so it has a strong presence across the country and beyond. As a new inventor, you will naturally be concerned about ending up with a provider that is not reputable or has no solid history or experience. With InventHelp, you benefit from a company that is established and has a solid reputation in the field.

What Is the History of InventHelp?

As mentioned earlier, InventHelp was formed back in 1984, and for the past several decades has been committed to helping new inventors who want to boost their chances of success.

The headquarters of the company is situated in Pennsylvania with more than 100 people working at this location alone. Of course, there are dozens of other offices located around the country as well as in Canada. The company is also committed to total transparency and honesty, so you will not be given lots of false promises in a bid to get you on board.

Using a provider that has a long history makes life easier for new inventors, as it means that they have a track record that they can look at and a past history that they can research. This makes it much easier to enjoy greater reassurance and peace of mind. It also means that you can research the experiences of past customers over the years to get a better idea of suitability and reputation.

Can I Trust InventHelp?

Naturally, when you are using any company for the first time, you want to know whether it is a trustworthy business. This is why it is always important to do your research and learn more before you make any decisions. InventHelp has become a leader in inventor services provision because it is not only a legitimate company but also one that does not practice underhand tactics such as making false promises and guaranteeing success.

The aim of InventHelp experts is to provide support and guidance to new inventors throughout the journey, and this is something that they have done successfully for many decades. The fact that the company has been around for so long is a testament to its reputation, and its long history means that you can carry out research into the company's track record and reviews from other inventors.

How Do InventHelp's Invention Services Work?

Naturally, any new inventor considering working with InventHelp is keen to know how the process works. Well, when you turn to these experts, you can get help with packaging your invention idea and getting it submitted to more than 9,000 companies on the InventHelp database. These companies are able to review the ideas put forward by new inventors, and because they have agreed to a confidentiality agreement, you do not have to worry about security issues when it comes to your intellectual property.

The good news is that the companies that are on the database are ones that are keen to work with new invention talent and are actively looking to review new ideas. With the help of InventHelp, new inventors are therefore able to get their ideas in front of companies that are already interested in seeing something new, fresh, and innovative.

In addition to this, InventHelp also provides support and assistance with many other key aspects of the invention process. This includes assisting you in getting legal protection in the form of a patent, helping with the creation of a prototype, and submitting your ideas to companies. In a nutshell, the service works by providing you with comprehensive support and guidance every step of the way from the start of your journey to its conclusion.

Does InventHelp Guarantee Success?

Of course, every new inventor would love to have the guarantee of success when they come up with an idea, but if the invention services company you work with does provide this, it is a red flag that you need to take notice of. No reputable inventions services provider will ever guarantee success to their clients because there is no way that they can guarantee your invention will be a success. So, the short answer to this is that InventHelp never guarantees success to any of the inventors it works with because this would simply be a false promise.

What Is the Cost of Using InventHelp's Services?

One of the things that most new inventors want to know is whether there are any costs involved in using the services of InventHelp, and if so, what the costs are. Well, first of all, it is important to know that there is a small fee for the services that they offer. One thing you need to ensure with any invention services company is that you get transparency and honesty with regard to any fees, and this is what you will get with InventHelp. The fees charged can vary, but InventHelp will provide all new inventors with details of what the fee will be on a case-by-case basis. You will, of course, be told what the fee is before you enter into any agreement, so you won't have to worry about any nasty surprises.

In addition, it is worth noting that InventHelp also has a sister company, and in the event that an invention is licensed and makes money, there may be a small fee by way of a percentage. However, this is only with a small number of clients.

Does Using InventHelp Mean I Can Monetize My Invention?

Most new inventors have dreams of becoming hugely successful and making lots of money. However, a reputable invention services provider will never guarantee that your invention will be a success and will also never guarantee that you will make money from it. Some new inventors are keen to know whether using the services of InventHelp means that they will be able to make money from their invention, but the experts cannot make any promises or guarantees that this will be the case. They are there to support you with your invention and help you turn your invention dream into a reality. However, they do not provide any guarantees or promises when it comes to success levels or the ability to make money from your invention.

Will I Be Protected When Using InventHelp?

Any new inventor that is using the services of a provider for the first time is naturally worried when it comes to protection and security. This is, therefore, a common question asked by many new inventors who need reassurance.

Well, one thing to remember about InventHelp is that they work confidentially, which greatly reduced the risk of details of your idea or invention ending up in the wrong hands. All details relating to your idea will be kept confidential, and a Statement of Confidentiality and Non-Use is signed to reflect this. Second, the thousands of companies on the InventHelp database that are interested in reviewing new inventions are also bound by a confidentiality agreement, so you have an additional layer of protection.

One of the other ways in which InventHelp can boost protection levels for you is by helping when it comes to getting patent protection. This is vital legal protection that can help to protect your idea or design on a number of levels, and it is very important that you get this process right the first time around. This is something that the experts at InventHelp can assist you with, which means greater protection and peace of mind for you.

Does InventHelp Exhibit Inventions at Trade Shows?

As professionals in the field, the experts at InventHelp do spend time at various trade shows and exhibitions, as this is part and parcel of them being able to provide the best service possible to new inventors. Some inventors are interested in knowing whether InventHelp exhibits the inventions of its clients at these events, and the answer is that this is not something that they usually do.

It is important to remember that exhibiting inventions from new inventors could put confidentiality and security at risk, and this could then cause huge issues. In addition, it is worth noting that the key reason why these professionals attend these events is to network and get more businesses onto the database so that more new inventors can get help in the future.

What Sort of Support Does InventHelp Offer?

Those who are new to the world of inventing often find the process of getting started very difficult and daunting. This is a big step for most new inventors, and they naturally feel concerned and want the best support they can get. As such, most are curious to know what sort of customer support and guidance InventHelp can provide.

Well, one thing to keep in mind about InventHelp is that it is a full-service provider, and this means that it provides support and assistance during every step of your journey. From the moment you enter into an agreement with them to the very end of your invention journey, you will have these experts on hand to turn to whenever you need help, guidance, advice, and support. There are various ways in which you can contact the team, and they will always get back to you to help with any questions or queries.

So, you can expect a high level of support from experts with the experience and in-depth knowledge to help you from the start to the end of your invention journey.

Can I Get an Opinion on My Idea from InventHelp?

Some new inventors come up with what they think might be a great idea that could potentially be very successful and prove useful to many people. However, they have some niggling doubts and are keen to know whether the professionals at InventHelp are able to offer an opinion with regard to their invention idea.

However, it is not professional or ethical for InventHelp to do this, and you will therefore not be able to get an opinion from the teams on whether they think your idea is a good one, viable, or likely to succeed. They do not offer an opinion on your idea or provide their thoughts on factors such as how marketable it is or how popular it is likely to be. All they are there for is to provide expert support and guidance, not opinions and personal thoughts on your ideas.

Will InventHelp Get My Invention Legally Protected?

As a new inventor, one of the things you may know very little or nothing about is patent protection. This is a very important part of the invention process that must never be overlooked. At the same time, it can be a complex and challenging legal matter that requires legal expertise to ensure your invention is properly protected.

Although InventHelp does not deal with getting your invention patented personally, it does refer you to the relevant legal authorities to ensure that you can get this done with speed, convenience, and efficiency. It is important to have access to a proper and fully qualified patent attorney in order to ensure you get the protection you need.

Once you have been referred to a patent attorney by InventHelp, relevant searches can be carried out. The attorney will then be able to provide a professional opinion and can then look at filing a patent application. When the patent is in place, your invention will be properly and legally protected. This means that you have protection in place in the event that someone tries to claim your idea as their own or if someone else comes up with the same idea and tries to patent it after you.

What Services Can InventHelp Provide to New Inventors?

A very common question from new inventors is how can InventHelp assist them and what services they provide to do this. Well, as mentioned previously, this is a company that helps with all manner of processes involved in new inventions, and they offer a host of services to assist new inventors.

As mentioned earlier, one of the key things that they can help with is helping you to get your invention patented. While this is not something that they do directly, as this requires the services of a professional patent lawyer, they can refer you so that you can gain access to reputable professionals to get your patent protection sorted out.

Another thing that InventHelp can assist with is getting a prototype sorted for you so that other people such as investors and businesses can find out more about your creation. With a prototype, others can see what your invention actually looks like, what it does, and how it works. This is more likely to pique their interest than just being told about your idea or invention. Having something tangible can really help, and this is one of the ways in which InventHelp can assist.

Again, as mentioned earlier, InventHelp also has a database of thousands of companies that are keen to tap into fresh new talent when it comes to new inventions. This means that your invention can be submitted to companies who can then review it, saving you the time and hassle of having to research companies, contact them, and wait for responses.

You can also tap into a wide range of resources from InventHelp, and this can prove invaluable to those who have little or new experience in the world of inventing. By turning to these resources, you can learn more about the industry, and you can use what you learn for both your first invention journey and for future ones.

Of course, you cannot underestimate the value of having someone with expertise on hand whenever you need them, and this is something else that InventHelp can offer. The excellent level of support and customer service can help you to stay on track and push forward with your invention rather than giving up at the first hurdle because you do not have the support that you need.

These are just some of the many ways in which InventHelp can assist you, and this is why a lot of new inventors turn to these professionals.

What Are the Benefits of Turning to InventHelp?

Finally, many new inventors are eager to discover what the benefits of turning to InventHelp are, and it is worth noting that there are many great benefits that you can look forward to.

As stated previously, no company should be providing you with guarantees of success or being able to get rich from your invention because they themselves have no idea whether this can or will happen, so they should not be making any promises to you.

However, what they can do is to make your journey far more enriching, exciting, and enjoyable – and they can make it much easier for you to get through your first invention journey. Without proper support and guidance, new inventors often end up feeling confused, stressed, and ready to give up, which is the last thing you want. One of the benefits of going through InventHelp is that you always have the support you need, which means a stress-free experience and a far better chance of making it to the end of your invention journey without giving up.

Another of the key benefits is that InventHelp can assist you with all sorts of processes relating to your invention. You can get expert help from the start to the finish of your invention journey, and this can make all the difference to your experience. You are far more likely to continue inventing if your first experience was a good one, so those brimming with great ideas can carry on inventing once their first journey is over.

Of course, you should also remember that InventHelp has many businesses on the database, so your invention idea can be submitted to the most suitable ones. In addition, they can do things such as create and submit press releases, hire graphic illustrators, create marketing materials, and much more.

Make a More Informed Choice with InventHelp Reviews

Choosing a provider to work with as a new inventor is a huge decision and one that cannot be rushed into. By reading InventHelp reviews such as this, and by doing your own research and checking out FAQs, you will find it much easier to make an informed choice.
