

5 Signs God Is Preparing You for a God-Centered Marriage

In our journey through life, we often find ourselves wondering about the paths laid out for us, especially when it comes to matters of the heart and building a future with someone special. For those of us guided by faith, the belief that God has a plan for every aspect of our lives, including marriage, is a comforting thought.

But how do we know when He's nudging us toward the role of a wife?

We've all heard stories or perhaps even felt in our own lives, moments that seem to be more than mere coincidence—times when the man upstairs seems to be preparing us for something big.

Whether it's through personal growth, a newfound understanding of love and partnership, or a series of events that seem to point in one direction, these signs can be both subtle and life-changing.

Let's dive into some of the ways you might recognize that God is grooming you for marriage, and how to embrace this divine preparation with an open heart and mind. -

<https://spiritualwayfarer.com/signs-god-is-preparing-you-to-be-a-wife/>