

English Department | College of Science & General Studies

The English Department offers elective courses that allow students to specialize in areas such as creative writing, linguistics, translation, and teaching English as a second language (TESL). These specialized courses provide students with opportunities to further develop their skills and pursue their specific interests within the field of English studies.