

Most Likely Soulmates For Taurus Are These 3 Zodiac Signs || AstroLekha

If your zodiac sign is ruled by Venus, the planet of love, beauty, and luxury, you are likely to have specific expectations for the ideal spouse. Your dating history may be less extensive than your to-do list, but only because you are rather picky about the people you date.

Being a fixed earth sign like Taurus, you would rather wait a very long time for the proper person to come along than spend time on unsuitable pairings. Give Virgos, Libras, and Pisces a chance if you're a Taurus and you happen to cross paths with them. These three zodiac signs are most likely to be Taurus soulmate, according to an astrologer.

Relationships are no exception to the rule that Taurus is a sign that can endure just about anything, according to Jessica, astrologer, and proprietor of AstroLekha Astrology. "Stability is my main worry for my Taurus soulmate clients. They might have the propensity to stay longer than necessary with people who aren't right for them, "generally out of a need for comfort," Jessica adds. Therefore, Taurus needs a lifelong mate who is sincere, devoted, and genuinely interested in establishing harmony over the long run."

These earth signs could also use a little spontaneity now and then. Taurus is a fixed sign, thus they have a tendency to follow a schedule. Jessica claims that a flexible, changeable sign can prevent the bull from becoming impaled in its position.

Virgo (August 23 — September 22)

Virgo, like Taurus, is an earth sign, making them dependable and practical. They are a mutable sign, therefore they are able to adapt to changing circumstances. According to Jessica, "Earth signs are the builders and the planners among us, thus these two signs can achieve new heights together." Again, Taurus offers that steadiness, whereas Virgo is flexible, and realistic, and won't stop working until a task is completed. Virgo is a strong zodiac sign that accomplishes goals. While a relationship between two earth signs might not seem like the sexiest match, that is not the case with these two. Virgos enjoy being sexually intimate and aren't hesitant to experiment in bed.

Libra (September 23 — October 22)

This earth and air pairing don't seem to have a lot of evident similarities at first sight. This is genuinely a zodiac couple that Jessica encounters frequently, she claims. Since Taurus and Libra are Venus-ruled signs, Venus is the match's "common denominator," according to the expert. Despite the fact that earth and air don't get along, this pairing works nicely because of the Venus connection. Venus in Libra is more "objective" and achieves their goals through captivating others around them, but Venus in Taurus is more "subjective" and naturally attracts people to them. According to Jessica, there is a tangible amount of love energy produced when these two signs come together. When Taurus gets involved with their fellow Venus-ruled sign, they will undoubtedly get their desires met.

Pisces (February 19 — March 20)

Pisces is one of Taurus's best zodiac soulmates because variable water fits with fixed earth the best. Jessica claims that this relationship is dynamic and synergistic. According to her, Pisces contributes incomparable love, loyalty, and idealism to the partnership, while Taurus offers stability and the occasional reality check that Pisces requires. This total is considerably stronger than the sum of its parts when a Pisces or Taurus Soulmate falls in love, and their flaws are also significantly decreased when they get together. Therefore, despite the inevitable setbacks these two will encounter, they will always find a solution.
