

Why do business cards still matter in the industry?

In the increasingly fast-paced digital world, some people may feel that digital business cards are losing their value. However, electronic interactions lack tangible touch. Rather than being a thing of the past, business cards are still very much in style and are getting thicker, bolder, and flashier.