Kairos 22 Natural Dekton has been compared to statuary marble, one of the natural white and coolest stones on the market. The fine veins in pale grey stand out among its brilliance. A unique mixture of real quartz crystal, porcelain, and glass is used to create Dekton Worktops. These raw components are merged and compacted under great pressure to produce a slab surface that is extremely tightly packed and compressed. Over 20 minerals have been extracted from nature to create Dekton, a unique layering.

Kairos Dekton - Install Today in Your Kitchen?

Dekton is a complex raw material blend used to create glass, porcelain tiles, and quartz surfaces. An unusual technological method replicates within a few days what nature takes thousands of years.

This non-porous surface is resistant to stains and never has to be sealed, resulting in a low-maintenance, easy-to-clean workbench.

Dekton, which has five times the flexural strength of granite, may be put in thinner material over a long - span, enabling up to the 12-inch supported overhanging on worktops, islands, and bar tops.

While Dekton is the most scratch-resistant surface on the market, cutting boards are still suggested to preserve your household utensils.

Fit in Kairos 22 Walk-in Showers:

Each Dekton slab is a refined blend of porcelain, quartz, glass, and natural minerals compacted under tonnes of pressure. This extraordinary compaction contributes greatly to the material's zero porosity, resulting in a high-performance, maintenance-free surface.

Dekton is more durable and adaptable than genuine stone. The surface is fully non-porous, making it completely waterproof for its lifetime, preventing water and other liquids from being absorbed. Kairos 22 Natural Dekton is never required to be sealed.

Dekton comes in various colours, patterns, and textures, allowing you to pick the perfect one for your bathroom. Dekton walk-in showers are an excellent investment since they will last decades without maintenance.

Let's See the Benefits of Having White Dekton Stone at Home:

Resistant to Abrasion

It is more abrasion resistant than granite and porcelain, making it perfect for outside facades, massive worktops, and high-traffic floors in residential and commercial settings.

UV (Ultraviolet) Light Resistant

The low thermal expansion coefficient means the surface will never fade or degrade over its lifetime in any outdoor application.

Colour Stability

Colour uniformity is perfect from slab to slab, with a long-lasting finish that will never fade. The surface you install now will remain the same for the product's life.

Waterproof

Because the surface is fully non-porous, water and other liquids are not absorbed, and there is no expansion movement as a result. It is never necessary to seal.

Resistant to Stains

Wine, coffee, permanent markers, and rust may all be easily removed without affecting the finish. Extremely resistant to strong chemicals such as bleach, drain cleaners, and oven cleaners.

Dekton Stone Maintenance:

Dekton is Cosentino's ultra-compact, high-performance material, composed of a complex blend of more than twenty natural minerals. A cutting-edge mineral particle sintering technique compacts its interior structure to produce a Carbon Neutral surface with exceptional durability and strength. Your Dekton worktop is unaffected by UV rays and is resistant to stains, scratches, knocks, and high heat from hot things. Its nearly negligible porosity will provide peace of mind because it is easier to maintain.
