

Dr. Paul DeLeeuw

In the late 1980s, Dr. Paul DeLeeuw, a seasoned anesthesiologist and bariatrician, faced a moral crossroads that would test his commitment to medical ethics. While attending a theater show with his wife, an unexpected cry for help interrupted the performance, summoning a doctor to the scene.

Anesthesiologist

A man had collapsed in cardiac arrest. Without hesitation, Dr. Paul DeLeeuw sprang into action, performing life-saving measures and coordinating with paramedics. Little did he know, this fateful act would connect him with the unexpected: a grateful malpractice attorney and his son.

Years later, Dr. Paul DeLeeuw continues to uphold the highest standards of medical ethics, driven by a deep-rooted sense of doing what is right. His career has been marked by leadership roles at renowned medical institutions, emphasizing excellence and collaboration among peers.

Beyond his medical practice, Dr. Paul DeLeeuw remains dedicated to giving back to his community. He delivers meals, care packages, and transportation to those in need, exemplifying his commitment to alleviating suffering.

This remarkable story serves as a testament to the enduring importance of ethics in the medical profession, even in the face of unexpected encounters and ethical quandaries. Dr. Paul DeLeeuw's unwavering dedication to his principles sets him apart as a beacon of moral integrity in the world of medicine.